Competition Is Strong

WASHINGTON, June 17.—(UP)—Railroads of the United States today unanimously petitioned the interstate commerce commission for a 15 per cent increase in all freight rates and charges.

The petition, signed by J. S. Peley, chairman of the eastern group; M. A. Scandrett, western and mountain Pacific group, and W. R. Cole, southern group, termed the present situation of the railroads as an emergency threatening serious impairment of their financial resources and "their capital resources."

SANTA ANA GIRL INJURED IN FALL

Mary Grace Tomlinson, 12, of 1214 South Park street, was seriously injured yesterday afternoon when she, with a number of other children, attempted to climb a cliff at Irvine park, and fell.

She was taken to the Orange County hospital, where it was reported she suffered severe cuts and bruises about the body. It was at first reported that her skull was fractured, but later developed that this was not true. Her condition, however, is serious.

The Tomlinson girl was a member of the Richmond Avenue Methodist church picnic party at the park yesterday. More than 150 persons attended.

CRASH MAY PROVE FATAL TO DRIVER

Apparently falling asleep while driving a heavy truck along Orange thorpe road, one-half mile west of Spadra, Ernest L. Davis, well known rancher of the Anaheim district, received injuries that may prove fatal today when his truck crashed into a touring car traveling in the opposite direction. Occupants of the touring car were uninjured and Davis was rushed to the Fullerton General hospital by passing motorists.

According to Chief of Police James F. Bouldin, of Anaheim, who went to the scene of the crash and conducted an investigation, the indications are that Davis fell asleep at the wheel of his truck and allowed the heavy machine to run across the highway to the left side where it crashed into the passenger car. This theory was evolved through tracing wheel marks made by the heavy vehicle and by the truck's position following the crash.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

Mirrors Fail Surgeon On Right Tonsil

PHILADELPHIA, June 17.—(UP)—Dr. Charles T. Meacham, 25-year-old interne at the Chestnut Hill hospital, nearly accomplished another marvel of surgery when he attempted to remove his own tonsil.

Dr. Meacham attempted the feat with mirrors and nearly succeeded in an operation never yet achieved, it was said. With a three-bladed tonsillectomy instrument, he snipped off the left tonsil without difficulty.

But the mirror and the necessity for manipulating the instrument with his left hand confused Dr. Meacham on the right tonsil, and loss of blood forced him to give up the remainder of the operation. A fellow surgeon completed the job.

CITY MAY NOT GIVE AID FOR PLAY GROUNDS

Loss of Support from Council May Result if Opinion Unfavorable

POSSIBILITY THAT city financial support for the summer playground program may be withdrawn was indicated at the meeting of the Santa Ana board of education last night, when it was said that rumors of recall of council members in connection with certain expenditures or proposed expenditures had resulted in loss of support from that body for the project.

The council had previously agreed to match the school board in putting up $200 for defraying expenses of an enlarged program this summer, destined to open more playgrounds and care for more children in an eight week period, than last year, and had made the appropriation of its share as the school board had done.

Question of legality of the appropriation by the city was brought up by W. M. Burke, who said the city was considering this phase of the question and had asked City Attorney Clyde Downing for an opinion on the matter.

The summer playground program is scheduled to open next Monday at 10 playgrounds in the city under the supervision of L. W. Archer and a staff of two assistants at each playground, J. L. McBride and W. M. Burke, representing the city council and the board of education, with Archer, the executive committee in charge of the expenditure of the funds.

BELGIAN BEAUTY CONTEST WINNER

GALVESTON, Tex., June 17.—(UP)—Miss Netta Duchateau, of Belgium, often described as a flashing brunette, was most flashing when she was selected as the winner of the "Miss Universe," the most beautiful girl in the world.

At a dinner at noon today at the Hotel Galvez, "Miss Universe" will be presented the $2,500 cash prize, the silver plaque symbolic of her title, and the Broadway theatrical contract which goes with her triumph as winner of the 12th Annual International beauty pageant.

Miss Duchateau won over Miss Anne Lee Peterson, of Louisville, Ky., "Miss United States," and seven other entrants from foreign lands.

TOKIO ROCKED BY SEVERE EARTHQUAKE

TOKIO, June 17.—(UP)—Tokio and vicinity was rocked by a severe earthquake starting at 9:10 o'clock tonight. Authorities believed considerable property damage would be reported.

Several sections of the city were in darkness due to the failure of power lines. Telephone and telegraph lines also were damaged.

Some damage was reported at Yokohama, the seaport city 18 miles from here.

BOARD DECIDES NOT TO CLOSE NORTH SCHOOLS

Dr. Margaret Baker Only
One to Cast Vote to Abandon Buildings

DECISION NOT to abandon Jefferson and Lincoln schools, at least for the present, was reached by the Santa Ana board of education last night, in its special meeting held at the school administration offices.

The matter of abandonment of these two schools, which previously had been proposed by Dr. Margaret Baker as an economy move, came before the board last night after construction of an additional room to be used as a teachers' rest room, had been authorized at Delhi school on a motion by Dr. Baker, when Rolla Hays again brought before the board the proposal that certain repairs be made at the two north side schools, the original suggestion for which, made in a business and grounds committee report some time ago, resulted in the suggestion by Dr. Baker that the school be abandoned.

After some discussion in which it was revealed that members of the board had been subjected to considerable pressure by north side school patrons after the suggestion to abandon the schools was announced, the board adopted the committee report on repairs at the two schools on a motion by W. M. Burke. Dr. Baker was the only member of the board voting against the motion.

Work which the report calls for is painting of both Lincoln and Jefferson schools, replace some toilet fixtures in the Jefferson school, install new shades there, doing some plastering at Lincoln and cutting another door into the kindergarten room at that school.

In the discussion of the matter it was suggested that the school which really should be closed was Hoover, one of the new buildings constructed last year and used this year for the first time. Dr. Youd made this suggestion and it met support from other members of the board. Burke stated that in spite of the fact that the Hoover school was a new one, he believed the wise thing to do was to eliminate part or all of the classes conducted there.

During the discussion as to whether or not the Jefferson and Lincoln schools should be abandoned, Assistant Superintendent Percy R. Davis declared keeping

Chain Store Operator Loses Money

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 17.—(UP)—Clarence Saunders, chain store operator, whose California companies met with the disapproval of the state finance commission, today had for the second time in his career surrendered the remnants of his fortune to his creditors in a court of bankruptcy.

And one of his first announcements was that he starts from "scratch, full of spirit and more experience to build again a new and bigger business and new estate."

FOREIGN WARS VETS PLAN TO BALLOT TODAY

Vallejo, Cal., or Las Vegas, to Be Chosen as Next Meeting Place

BULLETIN
LONG BEACH, June 17.—(UP)—Val Brandon, of San Diego, today was elected commander-in-chief of the California-Nevada division of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in convention here.

Brandon was formerly senior vice commander. His election was by proclamation. All other officers are being contested.

Governor James Rolph jr., was to be a guest of honor at the luncheon today.

LONG BEACH, Calif., June 17.—(UP)—Election of officers was the principal business before the California-Nevada department convention of Veterans of Foreign Wars today.

Indications were that Val N. Brandon, of San Diego, and C. Carlson, of San Francisco, would be chosen department commander and senior vice commander, respectively. They were nominated yesterday without opposition.

Nominations for other officers were: Junior vice commander, A. T. Munsden, Bakerfield; and J. T. Hogan, of South Gate; department adjutant quartermaster, O. T. Mahanay, Berkeley; and Charles Gavin, San Francisco; judge-advocate, P. L. Keller, Petaluma; and J. M. Malby, Long Beach; chaplain, G. W. Connor, present; and department surgeon Dr. G. Bradford.

Either Vallejo, Calif., or Las Vegas, Nev., was expected to be chosen as the 1932 convention city.

Resolutions adopted yesterday condemned pacifist activities by students of Los Angeles schools and colleges, as a menace to the best interests of the state and country, and urged that the United States maintain a navy second to none and a standing army of 150,000 for adequate national defense.

The ladies auxiliary of the organization also will elect officers today. Mrs. Henrietta Mills, of Los Angeles, was slated to be chosen president.

Other features on today's program included drum corps competition and a military parade.

SANTA CRUZ BEACH DAMAGED BY WAVES

SANTA CRUZ, June 17.—(UP)—Damage to beaches, piers and ships was reported today as a result of high tides and huge breakers that threatened the waterfront.

The beach was strewn with kelp as the waves pounded against the steps of the Casino, and for a time it was feared the underpinnings of the building would be carried away. The most of a lumber vessel unloading at a wharf was forced through a fish company's warehouse office, causing nominal damage.

Indian Must Die In Electric Chair For Killing Child

AUSTIN, Texas, June 17.—(UP)—Chief Red Wing, Indian convicted of attacking and killing little Evangeline Caasos, three-year-old daughter of the proprietor of a carnival in which the Indian played, must go to the electric chair. The court of criminal appeals here affirmed his conviction today.

The child's body, beaten with rocks, was found last October hidden along the railway tracks in New Braunfels, where the carnival was playing.

DEFENSE WINS BIG POINT IN PANTAGES CASE

Judge Rules Out Testimony of Two Girls—Case Is Given to Jury

SAN DIEGO, June 17.—(UP)—A sweeping victory was won by the defense of Alexander Pantages and others today when Judge L. M. Turrentine virtually instructed the jury to disregard the testimony of Lydia Nitto, Helen Livingston and John P. Mills, chief state witnesses in the morals trial involving the theater man.

Judge Turrentine held that the Nitto girl was liable to prosecution herself under the identical offense of conspiracy, therefore was an accomplice and her testimony would require corroboration.

"Miss Livingston is an accomplice to both counts (of contributing and conspiracy to contribute to the delinquency of minors) and her testimony requires corroboration," Judge Turrentine held.

The same ruling was given for the testimony of Mills.

The case was given to the jury at noon. The jurors were taken to lunch before they were to begin their deliberations.

Judge Turrentine held that inasmuch as the Nitto girl could herself be prosecuted under the identical offense of conspiracy, she was an accomplice.

Miss Livingston and Mills also were accomplices to both counts in the eyes of the court.

The defense had argued this point for two days, and the ruling was of prime importance to their case.

Inasmuch as the testimony of Mills, the Nitto and Livingston girls was practically all the evidence introduced by the state, it left the prosecution little evidence of value in the trial should the jury disregard the testimony.

Judge Turrentine did not tell the jurors to disregard the statements of the three, but reminded them that as accomplices the testimony of the trio needed corroboration, which he felt was lacking.

The only corroborative testimony in the trial was given by Richard I. Scollin, manager of El Cortez hotel, but the court held that his evidence was admitted only to show the conduct of Mills, and was not to be taken as evidence there was a party in progress or contemplated at the hotel.

Scollin had told how he had warned Mills he was aware of the alleged party then in progress, and told him to get the girls out of the hotel. He also said he had listened at keyholes, and directed telephone calls to the rooms to warn the occupants to "watch their step."

As to the age of the Nitto girl, around which a long fight had been waged, the judge told the jurors to "consider all the evidence given from the witness stand, including the appearance of the witness, and if the jury is not convinced beyond all reasonable doubt she is not under 21, then the jury must find these defendants not guilty on both counts."

Marines, Guards Missing Following Fight With Rebels

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, June 17.—(UP)—Two United States marines and three native national guardsmen were reported missing and were believed dead today after an engagement with insurgents.

The missing marines are Lieutenant McGhee and Lieutenant Powers, the latter a captain in the National Guard in command of one of the six patrols which started an offensive against the outlaws. The marines were leading their men, a small group, when they clashed with an insurgent force estimated at about 1400 men—an unusually large army of rebels.

Capt. Hawks Back In England After Fast Plane Trip

CROYDON AIRPORT, Eng., June 17.—(UP)—Capt. Frank Hawks returned at 5:35 p. m. today after having flown to Rome and return since his departure at 5:31 a. m. The round trip was approximately 1800 miles. He took time in Rome for a leisurely luncheon.

New speed records were established in both directions. Captain Hawks made his return trip from Rome to London in six hours flat.

Human Chain Snapped By Heavy Seas

Lone Woman Unable to Save Lad and Cripple
Then Battles Waves

AN 8-YEAR-OLD BOY, John Barton Carawan, son of Mrs. Guy H. Carawan, of Los Angeles, was saved from death in the swirling waters at the "Sugar Loaf" at Arch Beach late yesterday through the heroic efforts of a cripple, Gerald Barbeau, 24, of Pasadena.

When Mrs. Carawan discovered her son floating face down in the water 50 feet away from the jagged rocks and 100 feet from shore, she screamed for help. Barbeau immediately plunged in and fought his way to the unconscious lad.

The terrific undertow prevented Barbeau from making any progress in bringing the child to shore. In the meantime a group had formed on the beach and when the onlookers saw that the swimmer was in difficulty, a human chain was formed. This effort to aid Barbeau was unsuccessful, towing to the treacherous undertow and heavy waves.

Thelma Joyce, 23, removed part of her clothing and plunged in. She was unable to make any progress in aiding Barbeau and was forced to return to shore.

Barbeau, seeing that all efforts to aid him were fruitless, made a supreme effort and after 15 minutes of fighting, brought the boy to shore.

The first aid crew of Laguna Beach worked over the Carawan child with a respirator and soon revived him. Dr. B. B. Mason announced that the boy would recover from his experience.

According to Dana Lamb, head of Laguna Beach life guards, an effort will be made to secure a Red Cross medal for Barbeau.

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, June 17.—(To the Editor of The Register:—) Mighty glad to see Mr. Hoover and Mr. Coolidge finally (after years of delay) go out and dedicate the Harding Memorial. Too bad they waited till Ohio looked politically doubtful, and the odd thing about it is that they both owe their Presidency to this man's death. If he had lived one would have retired as an ex-Cabinet member and the other as just another ex-Vice-President. They ought to have been just standing waiting for it to be finished in order to do their part, for there was certainly nothing to be ashamed of in being there. Harding was the most human of any of our late Presidents, there was more of the real "everyday man" in him. If he had a weakness it was in trusting his friends, and the man that don't do that, then there is something the matter with him so nuff. Betrayed by friendship is not a bad memorial to leave.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

MAJ. BIRDSALL DIES SUDDENLY IN RENO TODAY

Former Army Officer and Los Angeles Newspaperman Is Called

RENO, Nev., June 17.—(UP)—Maj. Alfred W. Birdsall, former army officer and newspaper executive of California and Florida, died suddenly in his hotel room here today.

Major Birdsall was divorced two days ago from Mrs. Henriette De C. Birdsall, wealthy and titled Parisienne whom he met during his active service at the front.

Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., was Major Birdsall's military chauffeur at the time. Vanderbilt was here in Reno at the time of Birdsall's death.

Mrs. Birdsall, whose brother is a high ranking official of the French navy, is living in Pasadena.

Major Birdsall's divorce complaint alleged that she had interfered with his military career, a point that wrecked their marital happiness.

Birdsall's newspaper career began after the war, when his erstwhile military chauffeur, Vanderbilt, started the Illustrated Daily News in Los Angeles, the Herald in San Francisco and the Daily Tab in Miami, Fla.

Vanderbilt subsequently made Birdsall mechanical superintendent of his chain of tabloid dailies, with headquarters in Miami.

Subsequently Birdsall, returning to the coast, ran into difficulties in Los Angeles and was convicted on charges of grand theft. He served 18 months in San Quentin prison, and was paroled four years ago.

Death was caused by heart failure, examining physicians said. Major Birdsall was dead when found in his room today by hotel attendants.

There were some indications, it was announced, that death might have occurred yesterday or Monday.

GOVERNOR ROLPH SIGNS LIBEL BILL

SACRAMENTO, June 17.—(UP)—The closing -lba-vkaashrdluhr—Closing a four-year fight waged by the California Newspaper Publishers' association, the newspaper libel bill by Sen. Will R. Sharkey, Martinez, was signed by Governor Rolph last night.

The measure, S. B. No. 447, permits a newspaper to publish a retraction in case libelous matter is published through error or misinformation. In case the correction is published in the same size type and given the same prominence as the article held libelous, the plaintiff could recover only actual damages.

ADDRESS IS DELIVERED IN ILLINOIS

Pictures Martyred President as Symbol of Union and Human Rights
REFERS TO CAPONE

Declares Republic Cannot Permit Any Man Standing

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., June 17.—(UP)—The American republic cannot permit any man to stand above the law, President Hoover said in address dedicating the remodeled tomb of Abraham Lincoln.

"There can be no man in our country, who either by his position or his influence, stands above the law," Mr. Hoover said. "That the republic cannot admit and still live. For ours is a government of laws and a society of ordered liberty and safeguarded only by laws."

This brief but emphatic declaration toward the end of a short address eulogizing the greatest citizen contributed to history by Illinois, was linked by many who heard it with conditions in Chicago where Alphonse Capone and 68 of his employees last week were indicted as a result of the federal government's effort to break up long standing wholesale defiance of the prohibition and other laws. It is known that the situation in Chicago has long been a cause of chagrin to President Hoover and that federal cleanup activities now going on are due to its insistence.

Picturing Lincoln as the "symbol of union and of human rights" whose greatness is growing, not only in this country but among all peoples, Mr. Hoover, referring to the Gettysburg address, said it should "be our purpose and our resolve today" to be dedicated to the "great task remaining before us."

"The six decades which have passed since Lincoln's death have written on the scroll of history, changes bewildering in their variety, momentous in their consequences," Mr. Hoover said. "They have broadened and enriched life beyond the imaginations of Lincoln's contemporaries. The years have not only yielded rich treasures, material and spiritual, but they have brought challenges to readjustment, both by government and individuals—to a changing world charged with infinitely new responsibilities both at home and abroad."

The president's address followed the people of Illinois have taken just pride in the restoration and beautification of the tomb of their great citizen—Abraham Lincoln, the sixteenth president of the United States. The tomb, which was erected and dedicated 67 years ago. Another great citizen of Illinois—the eighteenth president of the United States, Ulysses S. Grant—made the address on that occasion. It is proper that a president of the United States should take part in its dedication at this time.

This, the tomb of Lincoln, is a shrine to all Americans. The scene and marble of all of our great national shrines are more than physical reminders of the mighty past of our country. They are symbols of things of the spirit. Through the men and deeds they commemorate they renew our national ideals and our aspirations. It is a refreshment of the national soul to assemble in these places and to direct the thoughts of our people to these occasions and to recall the men and their deeds which build the republic. It is an awakening

L. A. Book Store Wants Collector, 6 First Editions

LOS ANGELES, June 17.—(UP)—A man, who gave his name as Guy E. Slater, Tulsa, Okla., today was being sought by police on charges of stealing six valuable books, all of them first editions. The victim of Slater's operations was the Dawson Book Store, which allowed Slater to take out the books on approval. The Johnson in two volumes, valued at $500; "Two Years Before the Mast," valued at $100; one Carman Bible, published in 1483 and valued at $1,800; Darwin's Origin of the Species, $150, and a book of poems valued at $425.

HOOVER GIVES ADDRESS IN SPRINGFIELD

of pride in the glories of the past and an inspiration to faith in the future. These are the springs which replenish that most sacred stream of human emotions—patriotism.

Nothing that we may say here can add to the knowledge or devotion of our people to the memory of Abraham Lincoln. Nothing we may do can add to his stature in history. All that words can convey has long since been uttered by his faithful countrymen.

We gather here today that we of our generation may again pay tribute to the man who not only saved the union and gave freedom to a race but who created the ideals and inspiration of American life.

A nation in its whole lifetime flowers with but a few whose names remain upon the roll of the world in after generations. Lincoln after all these years still grows, not only in the hearts of his countrymen but in the hearts of the peoples of the world.

It is not new, yet it is eternally true, to state that Lincoln made a universal appeal to the minds and hearts of men. His every aspiration was for the unity and welfare of his country. He became a triumphant force in achieving that ideal because he saw the problems of his time not only from the standpoint of the statesman but of the average citizen whose outlook he understood and whose trials and hopes he shared.

No man gazed upon the tomb of Lincoln without reflection upon his transcendent qualities of patience, fortitude, and steadfastness. The very greatness which history and popular imagination have stamped upon him sometimes obscures somewhat the real man back of the symbol which he has become. It is not amiss to reflect that he was a man before becoming a symbol. To appreciate the real meaning of his life we need to contemplate him as the product of the people themselves, as the farm boy, fence-builder, the soldier, the country lawyer, the political candidate, the legislator, and the president, as well as the symbol of union and of human rights.

It is fitting that we should rededicate his hallowed resting place, that we should thus recall to every American mind and heart the contribution which Lincoln made to the greatness of our nation. But

It was Lincoln himself whose insight and splendid expression illuminated the true purposes of our assembly at national shrines.

It was he who at Gettysburg called upon the people not so much to mourn the dead as to honor them by a rededication of themselves to the service of their country. He said in that memorable address: "It is for us the living rather to be dedicated here to the great task remaining before us." That should be our purpose and resolve today. The six decades which have passed since Lincoln's death have written on the scroll of history changes bewildering in their variety, momentous in their consequences. They have broadened and enriched life beyond the imagination of Lincoln's contemporaries. The years have not only yielded rich treasures, material and spiritual, but they have brought challenges to readjustment, both by government and individuals, to a changing world. Our country has become powerful among nations. It is charged with infinitely new responsibilities both at home and abroad.

What a poet has called the endless adventure, the government of men, discloses new and changing human needs from generation to generation. As we scan our history even since his day, who can doubt Lincoln's own words that our national heritage is "worth the keeping." And it was Lincoln who stated and restated in impressive and resolute terms the principles of law. There can be no man in our country who, either by his position or his influence, stands above the law. That the republicans cannot admit and still live. For ours is a government of laws and a society of ordered liberty and safety, guarded by law. The eternal principles of truth, justice and right, never more clearly stated by Lincoln, remain the solvent for the problems and perplexities of every age and of our day. It is those who, like Lincoln, have made these principles serve the needs of mankind that the world pays its homage. At his shrine we light the torch of our rededication to the service and ideals of the nation which he loved and served with the last full measure of devotion.

Blacksmith Shop Destroyed by Fire

Believed to have caught fire from a car, the blacksmith shop of Frank Ulrich at Wintersburg burned to the ground last night. The fire was discovered about 11 o'clock. The Huntington Beach fire department responded to a call for help in subduing the flames, which threatened to nearby buildings.

The home of L. L. Letson across the street, caught fire, but was not badly damaged.

BOARD DECIDES NOT TO CLOSE NORTH SCHOOLS

them in operation was not as economical nor as good educational practice as maintaining two good schools in the north part of the city, but that it was a matter of convenience and accommodation to the people of the district to maintain them at least for the present. He advised overhead could be cut and seven teachers eliminated by closing the two in question.

The board requested Dr. Davis to make an investigation into the advisability of closing the Hoover school or at least the three upper grades in the school and report back to the board.

The original plan held by the former board of education when the Hoover and Wilson schools were built, called for abandonment of the Lincoln school, sending part of its enrollment to Hoover and part to Washington, and the construction of a new Jefferson school some six blocks north and three blocks west of the present site at Ross and Seventeenth streets.

The teachers' room at Delhi school is to be a temporary affair, the board taking the stand that some radical changes would have to be made at the school in the next year or so and that no more expense than necessary should be involved. The work is to be done as far as possible by city school department employees.

city to assure the public a continuance of efficient and adequate service.

Embodying 20 printed pages, the petition set forth in detail the plight of the roads with earnings falling off to a return to 2.24 per cent on property investments; precarious status of railroad bonds which would make securing of additional capital difficult; heavy competition from trucks and buses and the problem of wages for railroad workers.

In connection with wages, the petition said: "The policy of the federal government concurred in by management of most leading industries, is that the revival of industry and commerce should be predicated, for the time being at least, upon the maintenance of existing wage scales." It was concluded that if the wage question must be met with it must be at a later stage because of the time element.

Passenger fares are to be kept at present levels generally about 3.6 cents a mile, because of heavy inroads into this phase of transportation in recent years by buses and private automobiles. As regards truck competition, the petition stated that no program dealing comprehensively with this feature of the situation can be worked out now. "It is probable that no comprehensive program affecting all traffic competitive with other forms of transportation can be worked out at any one time in the future; and that, on the contrary, particular description of traffic will have to be taken up from time to time."

In their plea for higher freight rates, the railroads set forth various steps leading up to this emergency request filed today. It was decided in 1929 to continue as long as possible a normal program of expenditures. During 1930 capital outlay was approximately $598,000, while revenue was declining.

"In the latter part of 1930 it became evident that the policy above stated," said the petition, "had failed to accomplish results desired. It became evident that the economic depression was worldwide in extent and was not to be of short duration; that the export traffic of the carriers was greatly diminishing; and that production of domestic commodities was being drastically curtailed with consequent large diminution of the volume of domestic traffic."

Beach Group Will Attend Hearing on Tideland Oil Bill

More than 100 prominent Huntington Beach citizens left at noon today to attend the conference called by Governor James Rolph Jr. on the matter of signing the Craig tideland oil bill, granting Huntington Beach beach tidelands. The conference will be held at 4:30 p. m. to last probably not over an hour. Representatives of the Standard Oil company will oppose the tidelands grant bill, as the tidelands offset a Standard Oil lease that contains 16 producing wells.

There is a minority opposition to the beach drilling at Huntington Beach on the grounds that the oil wells may despoil the beach.

RANCHERS ASK REDUCTION IN GRADE OF ROAD

A formal demand from ranch owners east of Olive that the county reduce the grade of Santiago boulevard or provide some means of escape for water which will be backed up by the new grade was placed before the board of supervisors yesterday in a communication from their attorney, Clyde C. Shoemaker, of Los Angeles. The road has been widened and resurfaced.

The property owners who filed the formal protest against the change of grade, which they assert interferes with natural drainage and will damage their properties, are Harry A. Upham, Henry J. Lockard and Dr. W. L. Dickinson. The letter states that the ranchers will hold the member of the board and the county responsible for any damage which may result from the alleged interference with natural drainage.

The matter was referred by the board to District Attorney Sam L. Collins and County Highway Superintendent Nat Neff. Strengthening the West Fifth street bridge over the Santa Ana river and adding walks on each side, which were submitted by Superintendent Nat Neff of the county road department, were approved and ordered advertised for bids, to be opened at 11 a. m. on July 7.

The contract for a three and a half inch steel combination time lock vault door and steel vault lining for use in the office of County Treasurer E. B. Trago was awarded on recommendation of County Purchasing Agent F. W. Slabaugh, after tabulation of the bids that were received at the morning session, to the Hermann Safe company of San Francisco. Five bids were received for this type door.

A petition endorsing the appointment of B. J. Wilson for position of collector at the county hospital, which was recommended by the grand jury, approved by the supervisors, and included in the county government act, was presented to the board, act, and County Clerk J. M. Backs, clerk of the board was directed by Chairman John Mitchell to advise the leader of the petitioning group that there was no such position open. He stated that hospital authorities had declared they did not wish to push these accounts which were uncollected, as they donated their services.

A letter was received from the Huntington Beach Union High school commending the work of County Health Officer K. A. Sutcliffe and his assistant Dr. E. L. Russell.

Protest against the assessment levied against live stock it owns in the county was received from the San Pedro Commercial company and was held up pending action of the supervisors as a board of equalization.

A three room house 18x18 feet in dimension, located on the Irvine ranch at the head of Newport bay, which was used some years ago as a weather observation station for the government, was sold by the board yesterday to A. C. Jenking, of Corona Del Mar, for $10. Jenking bought the house for H. Cordova Sloan, real estate operator, who made a bid of $5. The house will have to be moved from the Irvine ranch. The sale was conducted by Chairman John Mitchell.

During the day the board held three "huddle" sessions in the committee room. The first was at the request of Supervisor George Jeffrey when the board was closeted with Paul Ellsworth, member of the city council of Newport Beach. Dr. F. W. Slabaugh later was called into this secret session and the supervisors' chamber. The second "huddle" session was with former district attorney Z. B. West and Deputy District Attorney W. F. Menton. The final session was with Flood Control Engineer Murray N. Thompson and Highway Superintendent Nat Neff. All of the sessions were of considerable length.

Y. M. C. A. Camp Is Open For Summer

D. H. Tibbals, director of boys' work for the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A., returned yesterday from Camp Osoeola upon completion of the task of preparing the camp property for the regular summer sessions. With the completion of work at the camp 90 boys from Orange and Anaheim, under direction of J. B. Wilbur, Orange, and Conrad Jongeward, Anaheim, and 11 adult leaders, arrived for a two weeks' camp period.

The second period has been assigned the Fullerton Y. M. C. A. members with the third designated as open for Santa Ana. Tibbals said today that 60 Santa Ana youths have already signed applications to go to camp with the local delegation.

FLOOD CONTROL IDEA ENDORSED BY COAST BODY

Heartily endorsing the general idea for flood control and conservation of waters in Orange county, according to the plan of the board of engineers contained in the report to the board of supervisors, but holding to the reservation that the coast section of the county must get its share of the waters conserved, in proportion to the amount of taxes it pays for the construction of the works, the report of the water conservation committee was presented to members of the Orange County Coast Association last night at the monthly meeting held in Travalin's cafe.

Under the rules of the association action on the report and a resolution offered by the committee were deferred by President J. S. Falcom of San Juan Capistrano until next month, but the applause given to Hugh O'Connor, chairman of the committee, and to Mayor Thomas F. Murphy, of San Clemente, chairman of a subcommittee that framed the report, indicated that the coast section of the county will back solidly the claims of the committee.

Ross Shafer, of Tustin, in a frank speech, demanded to know if the coastal area expected to build reservoirs to store waters saved in the coast, which would pay 25 per cent of the cost of flood control, expected that an amount of water in proportion to the taxation would be diverted from conserved waters into the channels from which the section now derived its supply.

A new angle of the flood control situation was thrust into the meeting when Gilbert Wilson, of Three Arches, chairman of a special coast committee, to investigate the matter of forming a district to join the Metropolitan Water district, moved that the board of supervisors be requested to consult and co-operate with the board of directors of the Metropolitan district, "in the construction of flood control and water conservation dams, to be built in Orange county, and by so doing to arrange to allow the Metropolitan Water district to use the reservoirs so constructed for storing Colorado river water and it shall be understood that the Metropolitan Water district assists in the construction and maintenance of dams." Wilson said he was not at liberty to express himself further, but it was his personal belief that from $2,000,000 to $5,000,000 of the cost of the project could be saved to the taxpayers of the county by such a move and that a greater amount of water would find its way into the basins of the county in this way.

After Thomas Talbert, of Huntington Beach, had seconded the motion, President Malcom, with the consent of the members, deferred action and discussion on the motion until the next meeting, which will be held at Huntington Beach July 21.

J. P. Greeley, of Balboa, former president of the association, made the direct accusation that Orange county is holding up the proposed Brannigan crossing overhead road. He declared that the city of Newport Beach and the state of California were ready and willing to do their share, although the city would not benefit from the project any more than the rest of the county. This accusation followed a statement from Nat H. Neff, county engineer, that all of the right of way had not been secured, but that "it looks favorable for early construction."

Greeley moved for the appointment of a committee of three to confer with the board of supervisors and "get a definite expression as to what they are willing to do." It was passed and the committee will be named later.

A special committee of the Coast Association will co-operate with state highway and Long Beach officials in celebrating the opening of the Hathaway cutoff, a new highway extending from Seal Beach to Anaheim road. E. Bond Harpole, of Seal Beach, said it is expected to hold the celebration on July 18.

Reporting for the board of directors, Secretary Harry Welch told that the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce and a ranch at Seal Beach had been elected to membership. The advertising committee will continue next fall its efforts to raise a $10,000 advertising fund and start a campaign January 1 to last until the summer season.

Hal Warner reported on the progress of the golf tournament and urged more members to participate.

Attorney Leslie F. Kimmell, of Laguna Beach, chairman of the legislative committee, promised a comprehensive report at the next meeting, declaring that Governor Rolph still had under consideration several bills affecting the coast section. He reported that Charles Brownlow, of Los Angeles, has appealed to the land commissioner from a decision refusing his application to file on rocks and reefs off the Irvine property near Newport Beach and at Goff Island and Three Arches. He said the committee planned to make a fight against the appeal and that he had written to Congressman Swing author of a bill withdrawing such points of land from application, urging his support in fighting the appeal.

In his invited address Ross Shafer declared "Only water can hold up the values of a county that God made as a desert." He declared that rights to all of the waters of the county that lie in basins had been adjudicated and the only waters available for distribution are flood waters and that it was possible to use these waters only in the flood stage, which was spasmodic. He said the peak use of water both for irrigation of the interior ranches and domestic use on the coast came in August when there is no flood. He believed, he said, that it was up to the coast section to aid a project that would conserve these waters when there is a flood stage and to return them gradually to the natural basins. H. L. Sherman of Newport Beach, in replying to Shafer, said there is no intention on the part of the coast to join in a scheme for the storing of its share of the flood water except in the underground basins. Stevens also spoke briefly regarding the flood control situation and praised the work of the Coast association committee in getting up its report.

BUILDERS OF CALIFORNIA

7 of the 10 largest construction companies in California are depositors in Bank of America

Harry too, is 'on the job' 500 miles away

He may never see the rising buildings that help to pay his wages. For Harry Smith is one of thousands—in office, factory, forest, mine and mill—who are essential to every construction project.

Each new building creates income for many men and industries. A bungalow may require 100 materials and manufactured products; a skyscraper, 1,000 or more.

The vital importance of this industry is suggested by California's building permits, totalling four billion dollars in the past 10 years. Most of this money was spent for materials and wages.

Indirectly benefiting every family, construction is normally the livelihood of more than 100,000 men in this state.

Bank of America has worked shoulder-to-shoulder with these Builders of California—has helped finance thousands of homes and other buildings throughout the state; has invested and underwritten millions in bonds for public works, schools, and state, county and city improvements.

And today—with building costs the lowest in 10 years—Bank of America encourages economically-sound construction. You are cordially invited to discuss with any officer of this Bank, the financing of a home or any needed project.

JAYCEE SURVEY PLAN FAILS TO GET RESPONSE

Taking the position that the county supervisors should not be asked to add additional expense at this time when they are faced with the task of cutting expenditures to meet the 19 per cent cut in assessed valuations made by Assessor James Sleeper, George Wells, president of the Santa Ana board of education, declined last night to join with the Fullerton board of school trustees in asking the supervisors to make an appropriation to finance a county wide educational survey.

"It is unfortunate that this matter comes up now," Wells said. "The supervisors will have a hard time keeping the rates down. Sleeper has tried to avoid asking the supervisors to add additional expense."

These statements were made at the conference between members of the Santa Ana board and James Tuffree, president of the Fullerton high school and junior college board and Louis E. Plummer, principal of the Fullerton high school and junior college, which was held in the Santa Ana administration offices last night, after Tuffree had suggested that the request previously placed before the supervisors be renewed. County Superintendent Ray Adkinson also sat in on the conference, which concerned the rapid growth of the two junior colleges in the county—at Fullerton and Santa Ana—and what steps could be taken to care for future expansion.

President Tuffree opened the discussion with a statement of conditions at Fullerton, where he said the high school was being crowded out by the junior college and that the educational survey might provide facts which would provide a basis for going to other high school districts and getting their consent to inclusion in the junior college districts so the burden would be reduced on the districts and additional facilities provided. He suggested that the county had expended great sums on food surveys and that an appropriation for an educational survey, which would cost somewhere between $3600 and $5000, would be equally logical and of great service to the entire county.

It was agreed by representatives of both boards that the districts probably would not be forced to make any action to meet continued growth for another year, although W. M. Burke expressed the opinion that depression was one of the factors in causing the enrollment to grow so rapidly and he did not anticipate any reduction in the rate of increase. He based his assertion on the theory that children ordinarily being sent away to college were being kept at home to attend junior college.

President Wells suggested that the expense of the survey be borne by the two districts, but Dr. Percy Davis, assistant superintendent, pointed out that district funds could not be used for a county wide survey, in which he was upheld by County Superintendent Adkinson. Adkinson also stated his office would not have the funds for this purpose. Wells also suggested that a conference be held with high school boards of other districts in the county to determine their attitude in the matter of inclusion in either of the junior college districts. General sentiment expressed last night was that it was useless to talk of a union junior college for the county.

Alternatives faced by the Santa Ana board to meet the situation imposed by rapid growth of junior college enrollment, are cutting off students from outside districts or building bungalow class rooms on the campus to provide temporary quarters, according to Dr. Davis. It was also suggested during the conference that the data desired might be obtained by the Orange County High School Principals' association and then analyzed and interpreted and recommendations made by educational experts from the outside. This would give a basis of obtaining facts for showing outside districts why they should join either one or the other junior college district now in existence, it was said. It was shown that outside districts are paying a tax rate of seven cents for junior colleges while the college districts have a rate more than three times as great, and that the outside districts are benefitting at the expense of the college districts.

Dr. Davis suggested that such an educational survey would be of great benefit to the entire county in an educational way and would nationally advertise the county. Dr. Margaret Baker expressed the opinion that it would not hurt to ask the supervisors for the appropriation for this purpose, but no action was taken.

Charge Dropped As Complainant Loses Interest

Mrs. Alma Fletcher, of 324 East Broadway, Anaheim, couldn't bear to think that she had been responsible for sending a man to jail, so today, in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court, when the case of Thomas Mark Mathews, Los Angeles, charged with grand theft, was called, the district attorney moved for dismissal on the grounds that the prosecuting witness did not want to appear.

Leo J. Fris, deputy district attorney, who handled the case, presented a letter to the court from the complaining witness in which she stated that she did not care to appear against the defendant.

Mathews was charged with stealing $800 from Mrs. Fletcher and her husband, George, in a stock transaction.

Calvin Coolidge Says

MARION, Ohio, June 17.—An ambitious proposal is being made for adopting a ten year plan for operating this country. Suggestions for improvement are always welcome. But we should not let words supplant ideas. We have the most complete plans already that any nation ever possessed. A system of transportation by land and water is constantly under construction. The ablest and most skilled people in the world have extensive plants for furnishing all kinds of raw materials and merchandise. Agriculture is prepared to supply all our food. A multitude of banks are ready to issue money and give credit.

This vast system has been prepared by generations of great business leaders. We need not wait five or ten years for something we already have. Any intelligent discussion then will be directed not at supplying systems of production and distribution but at the most efficient operation of these in existence. Few people can plan for the future only in a limited way. We do not know the future amount of consumption, wages, prices, or production. No hard and fast plan can be successful without establishing these elements in advance. Freedom of action prevents that. But thought, discussion and conference can produce improvement. CONSERVATORY MUSIC PUPILS GIVE RECITAL

By RUTH ANDREWS

One of the most pleasing musical events of the spring season was observed last evening, when about 100 advanced pupils of Santa Ana Conservatory of Music offered an enjoyable, well-varied program in Ebell clubhouse, in honor of the spring recital and graduation exercises, presented annually by the institution. An appreciative audience filled the hall, and were warm in their praise of the many solo and ensemble numbers offered by pupils from violin, piano, voice and wind instrument departments.

As prelude to the program, the audience sang "America," led by D. C. Cianfoni. The first part of the program was devoted to several large and especially effective violin ensembles, all of which were directed by their teacher, Elwood Bear, and which were praiseworthy in every respect.

An ensemble of 55 violins, led by Bear, with Simon Plas as concertmaster, opened with Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony." Another ensemble of 23 violins followed with the clearly accented Violin Concerto in D Minor, with Beatrice Granas and Mary Nau as accompanists.

Excellent solo work was evidenced in Ralph Greer's presentation of the melodious Mozart Violin Concerto, with orchestral accompaniment by the Conservatory Little Symphony of 53 players. Especially enjoyable was the brilliant Mendelssohn Violin Concerto, with Mariah Nau as soloist, accompanied by the ensemble. The solo work displaying much technical facility and the orchestral work indicative of real progress, this popular work being offered more frequently on professional symphony programs than the other violin concerto. The soloists proved to be the first Orange county violin players to present concertos with orchestral accompaniment.

Picturesque rendition of a group of Hawaiian readings from the poems of Don Blanding by Miss Mary Cianfoni, of the Conservatory dramatic department, was a special feature, the effectiveness of which was heightened by soft musical accompaniment on the Hawaiian guitar, by Russell baritone soloist, was enjoyed in two well-contrasted songs, "The Hills of Home" (Fox) and Cadman's "The Builder."

Facial technique and dexterity were displayed in Robert Tannenbaum's clarinet solo, the ornamental "Mignon Polonaise" (Thomas), while Lorene Hanson's silvery soprano pleased in a vocal solo, "Invocation to Life" (Spross). A note of novelty was found in the presentation of the effective four-piano ensemble, the "Miniature Overture" from the "Nutcracker Suite" (Tchaikovsky) by a group of four girls from the piano department of the school, including Betty Smedley, Elizabeth Downie, Marie Steuart and Doris Flippin, the ensemble work clearly co-ordinated in rhythm and tempo.

A baritone horn solo, the familiar "Toreador Song" from "Carmen" received spirited rendition by Thomas Flippin, mello tone quality most noteworthy. A vocal trio, composed of Lorene Hanson, Blanche Owens, and Edna Bianch were much enjoyed in a gracefully contrasted song group, their voices blending sweetly in Buck's "Pretty Good World," and Hambling's "Sacred Flame."

A special feature of the program was the appearance of Allen Lair, talented post graduate of the Conservatory, in a brilliant rendition of the famous Tchaikowsky Piano Concerto in B Flat Minor, in which the gifted young pianist displayed an especially high degree of virtuosity. This extremely difficult number which demands the utmost in technical display was met by Miss Lair in wholly adequate manner, the lengthy work presented entirely from memory with remarkable ease and power. Miss Lair was assisted at the second piano by Miss June Hartman of the Conservatory piano department. Also appearing repeatedly throughout the evening in the role of accompanist for various vocal and instrumental numbers, Miss Lair's versatility was further proven.

An effective conclusion to the evening's program was the presentation of two numbers, the familiar "Song of the Volga Boatman" and "The Church in the Wildwood" by a brass sextette from the wind instrument department, led by Professor Cianfoni, following which about 40 graduating certificates and diplomas were presented to advanced pupils by J. A. Cranston, superintendent of Santa Ana City schools. Cranston stressed the value of music in the enrichment of daily life, and paid tribute to the Conservatory's influence upon the musical life of the youth of the community.

Stated meeting of Santa Ana Council No. 14, R. & S. M., at Orange Masonic Temple, Thursday, June 18th, at 8 p. m. Visiting companions cordially invited. Refreshments. W. T. RODGER, I. M. (Adv.)

Defendant Will Face Two Judges In Liquor Cases

Charged with two crimes, driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, and possession of liquor, it is going to take two judges to decide the cases of R. O. Newton, Long Beach man, arrested Tuesday by Sheriff Logan Jackson, although both crimes are asserted to have occurred in the same place.

After his arrest, Newton was arraigned on the driving charge in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court. Then he was taken to Anaheim and arraigned on the charge of possession of liquor. At both courts bail of $1000 was demanded. The prisoner did not make bail in either case.

He is scheduled to appear in court on June 25, at 9 a. m.

ASK ORDINANCE FOR LICENSING FOOD PEDDLERS

Additional legislation to protect Orange county merchants from activities of itinerant merchants who operate from large trucks, carrying all sorts of merchandise direct to residents of unincorporated territory, was asked in a petition which was presented to the board of supervisors yesterday afternoon.

The petition carried a large number of signatures from general merchants and storekeepers of the county and asked that the supervisors enact an ordinance regulating these peddlers, which they state come in from outside counties and are operating to the injury and detriment of the regular taxpaying merchants.

The petition read as follows: "The undersigned general merchant and storekeepers of Orange county, residing in and carrying on business in unincorporated towns, ask your attention to the matter of the very large and constantly increasing system of peddling meats, groceries and all classes of merchandise, which is being carried on to the injury and detriment of the regular tax paying merchants. We ask that an ordinance be adopted regulating these peddlers coming in from outside counties by placing substantial license fees on this class of nomadic business, that will help increase the revenues of the county and tend to protect the general storekeepers."

The matter was referred by the supervisors to the office of District Attorney Sam L. Collins and it is possible that a new ordinance may be drafted or the ordinance covering highway selling amended to cover the situation.

Merchants from the following communities signed the communication: Los Alamitos, Stanton, Midway City, Talbert, Westminster, Cypress, Anaheim, Buena Park, Fuller Park, Harding, Hanson, Garden Grove, Santa Ana Gardens, Santa Ana, Ocean View, Liberty Park, Irvine, Huntington Beach, Orange, El Toro, El Modena, Olive, Fullerton and Atwood.

FORD AIR TOUR INCLUDES S. A.

Inclusion of Santa Ana in Edsel Ford's national air tour itinerary has been assured through acceptance of the chamber of commerce of an offer for the 20 airplanes comprising the caravan to stop here for one day during the tour.

The date of arrival here has not been established but probably will be sometime during the winter months.

The tour is sponsored and financed by a group of national advertisers and the program to be presented here will be without cost to the city, according to Findley R. Carter, manager of the project. The 20 airplanes, provided by the Buhl Aircraft company, will assemble in Detroit, then fly directly to the state of Maine, starting the tour on August 1. The tour will continue for eight months, visiting hundreds of cities. It is planned to include California cities in the winter schedule.

The ships, upon arrival, in Santa Ana, will circle the city before landing at the airport. With the wings dismantled the planes will be towed through the city, by automobiles in a parade to be participated in by local business men and members of the prosperity tour.

Members of the tour will provide a program while in the city but this will be under direction of the local chamber of commerce.

BETTER CONSULT A DOCTOR

Shades of delirium tremens! Here are four reasons why the prohibition laws ought to be enforced. No, you don't see any snakes, but these strange beasts are just about as bad. The fierce animal at the upper left is a hippopotamus with an elephant's trunk and body, at the lower right is a turtle with a deer's head. The ill-fated camel at the lower left is wearing an elk's head and antlers, and the monkey at the upper right has such a woeful expression because of its kangaroo body. You'll have to blame a trick cameraman for the weird phenomena. He was just trying his hand to see what he could do.

FREEDOM, VOCATIONAL WORK AT WHITTIER BOYS' SCHOOL FROWNED ON BY EX-SHERIFF

Here is the fourth of the series of articles on the Rolph spoils system in California and which is being printed daily in the Los Angeles Record and reproduced in The Register—(Editor).

The Rolph machine, according to the belligerent Citizens' Committee, at first planned to make Joseph Southern, "from Long Beach," superintendent of the Whittier state school.

When it became publicly known, however, that Southern was one of "Sunny Jim's boys" in San Francisco, the plan was changed over night, it is said.

Southern, who was staying at a Whittier hotel, was dropped. Claude S. Smith, Los Angeles real estate man, former oil speculator and former sheriff of Jasper county, Texas, was given a hurry call to appear at Whittier.

From somewhere "in the mountains," Smith drove all night in order to meet Dr. J. M. Toner, Rolph's director of institutions, on a Monday morning at Whittier.

Smith was made superintendent and Southern given a post apparently next in authority.

Alarmed At Freedom
Somewhat bewildered by the intricacies of a modern curative educational system, the genial former sheriff rubbed his eyes and looked around him.

It reports received by the citizens' committee are to be trusted, he was alarmed at the "freedom" allowed the more than 300 boys at the school "Authority" seemed to be lacking.

"How do you find conditions here?" Dr. Walter F. Dexter, president of Whittier college, asked Smith shortly after he was installed.

"Pretty bad," he replied. "Scudder was a fine gentleman but I have already been here long enough to tell that his administration was very laxative."

Made Some Changes
Scudder, Smith observed, had gone in for "that vocational stuff," according to the citizens' committee. Smith looked at the grassy lawns. It was his idea that the boys' time could be better employed operating a lawn mower than fooling around with shop machinery.

He is reported to have assailed the lathes, in particular. "There are a couple of lathes," he is quoted as saying, "which have not been used for six months. What do we want lathes for? We don't make machinery."

Smith and Southern abolished the electric shop, the citizens' committee found, and recommended it would be better for the boys to work with a pick and shovel.

In the quiet beautiful home on the school grounds to which Superintendent Smith and his wife fell here there was one eye—on an upright piano. It was too unpretentious to suit the new superintendent's taste.

Wanted Grand Piano
The Smiths, it is related, asked the state purchasing agent for "a grand piano," instead—"for the sake of appearance only, as none of us can play it."

The purchasing agent said he could not allow more than $150 for "a grand piano" and the Smiths' dream of grandeur vanished.

Southern, Smith's aide, said the state purchasing agent was an "old fogie," any way!

PLAN SHOWER BUILDING AT LOCAL SCHOOL

Construction of a shower and locker building at the Frances Willard Junior High school plant has been determined upon by the board of education and a preliminary plan for this building, which was drawn by Arnold Lund and submitted to the board for consideration by Assistant Superintendent Percy R. Davis last night, was ordered referred to Allison and Allison architects under the bond fund, for estimates of cost.

The structure, contemplated is 60x22 feet in dimension and will be located just west of the shop building at the new Willard plant, which is on North Ross street between Washington avenue and Sixteenth street.

The architects were requested to work out estimated costs for frame and stucco construction and for concrete and stucco construction. The building as planned calls for showers and locker rooms for both boys and girls and offices of the physical education directors at the school.

Rough estimates of cost call for expenditure of between $20,000 and $30,000 for the building completely furnished. There is expected to be a balance of between $10,000 and $15,000 in the bond fund voted for the construction of the Willard plant after grading and walks are completed and furnishings purchased. The balance required for financing the new unit at the school will be taken from the regular high school funds, it is indicated at the school administration offices.

The board last night also took action in connection with two other building matters, inspecting preliminary plans submitted by Frederick Ely for a two room addition at Lowell school, and employing Frank Lansdown as architect to prepare plans and specifications for an addition to the kindergarten room at Spurgess school. The kindergarten addition is to be about 30 feet in length, adding this room to the quarters built several years ago.

PLAN TO MOVE CITY SCHOOL HEADQUARTERS

Removal of the school administration offices from the buildings now used for that purpose at the corner of Church and Sycamore streets to the Washington building in the 1100 block on North Main street, was ordered by the Santa Ana board of education last night.

Work of remodeling the former elementary school building, which has recently been used as an overflow building for the Frances Willard Junior High school, will start within the next week or 10 days, it was announced today by George Newcom, business manager of the city schools.

Action on the matter was taken on a motion by W. M. Burke, following a recommendation of Assistant Superintendent Percy R. Davis. The matter originally was suggested about a year ago by Superintendent J. A. Cranston as a way to utilize the building on Main street and to release the present property for sale.

Offices of all administrative officers of the city school system will be consolidated in one building under the plan adopted by the board last night. At present some of the offices are in the administrative building, some in the old school building to the east, one at Lathrop Junior High school and one at the high school. Present quarters are badly crowded and there is a need for more room and centralization of the supervisors in the interests of efficiency, Dr. Davis said. He also pointed out that the board room had been outgrown as well as the administrative offices and storage rooms for school supplies.

It was characterized as a conservation move, board members agreeing that there was no market for the Washington property at this time and that if the building were abandoned and closed it would rapidly deteriorate. Dr. Davis also pointed out that noise and confusion from traffic on Main street prevented its proper use as a school building.

He suggested that the present administrative offices could be leased for offices to provide additional income for the city school system; that the large building to the east also might be leased; and that the Washington building could be converted into proper offices at very little expense, probably for the same amount or less than would be required to enlarge the present quarters.

Rolla Hays stated that the present site, which is directly west of the Baptist church, was desired by that institution and that a sale of the property might be arranged to the church. It was held advisable not to attempt sale of the Washington site on Main street at the present and that use of the building by the administration would hold it until a better market developed. If it should be desired in the future to sell the Main street property the building could be moved back to Sycamore street, still maintaining it as the school administration offices, board members agreed. The property owned by the school system there extends from Main to Sycamore streets.

The Washington site was purchased at a cost of $23,000 and the building erected about eight years ago at an additional cost of $50,000. It was stated by George Wells, president of the board. It has four class rooms, office and rest rooms on the first floor and six class rooms on the second floor. Plans for remodeling call for locating the administration offices board room and storage rooms of the first floor and supervisors' offices on the second floor.

The work is to be done as far as possible by the maintenance employees of the city school under the direction of Business Manager George Newcom. Some additional day labor will be employed for this work, Newcom advised. Cost are expected to be kept within a maximum of $2000.

P.-T.A. AWARDED DISTRICT PRIZES

BUENA PARK, June 17.—A report of the Parent-Teachers' convention in San Francisco was given by Mrs. F. M. Ensign, president of the Grand Avenue P.-T.A., yesterday.

Announcement was made that for the first time in its history the Grand Avenue P.-T.A. had attained the distinction of being a "standard" association. This organization has also been awarded a cash prize of $250 from the fourth district for having the largest percentage of membership according to the number of families in the district, and a two-dollar cash prize for having an increase of 12 1-2 per cent over last year's membership.

Mrs. Ensign has announced her committee chairman for the new year's work as follows: membership, Mrs. L. A. Sopha; standard and superior associations, Mrs. J. H. Page; hospitality, Mrs. John Humphreys; magazine and publicity, Mrs. Eleanor Jones; welfare, Mrs. A. G. Campbell, budget and ways and means, Mrs. Keith Morse.

Flock of Pigeons Sighted On Ranch Near Hot Springs

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 1.—Huntington Beach people visiting the San Juan Capistrano hot springs district yesterday reported seeing a flock of wild pigeons cross the road about two miles side of the hot springs. The pigeons lighted in trees on the Santa Margarita ranch but flew when the auto stopped. This flock of pigeons is said to be the last in existence in the United States. They are protected as the ranch is posted against trespassers and the law is rigidly enforced, not even the ranch employees being permitted to shoot them.

The wild pigeons are nearly twice as large as the ordinary tame pigeons. Their plumage is dark, nearly black and they have a ringed neck and are a very attractive bird. They seldom approach the highways and are today the most wary of all wild life.

GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, June 17.—Mrs. G. L. Beardsley attended a meeting of the Baptist Bible Study classes in Los Angeles, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Wade entertained Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Jenkins at Sunday dinner.

E. J. Tobias and son, George, and Louis Mathis spent the weekend at Big Bear lake.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Wilson and family, of West Ocean avenue, have moved to Santa Ana.

Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Beardsley and family, of Hynes, visited at the G. L. Beardsley home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Adams received word Monday that their son, Clifton, was seriously ill with pneumonia at his home in Tucson, Ariz.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Killingbeck and family visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Paige in Fullerton, Monday evening. Mrs. Paige, who submitted to a major operation two weeks ago is getting along nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Goodwill and baby have moved here from Ontario for the summer months. Mrs. Goodwill will leave next week for Fresno to attend summer school.

The Rev. Joseph Pope and family, who have made their home in Garden Grove during the past two years, are leaving this week for Oregon, where the Rev. Mr. Pope will attend the annual conference and receive his appointment for the coming year. A farewell service was conducted at the Methodist church Sunday morning as a token of appreciation.

CHINESE HERBS

THE ROAD TO HEALTH

CHINESE HERBS have stood the test for centuries. They cured more ailments of men and women than all modern treatments. ALL DISEASES, no matter of what nature, no matter how many different medicines you have tried without results, We will relieve you quickly and permanently with our wonderful, herbal remedies — remedies that will assist nature in removing the poisons from your system and gradually rebuild the wasted tissues.

The action of Chinese herbs is entirely different from anything you have taken before, and entirely unfamiliar to most American people. They quietly and stealthily creep through the meshes of your tissues, while you are working and while you are sleeping. Like friendly spirits they steal into the dark corners of human anatomy to expel the hobgoblins of disease and like good fairies, they always leave happiness in their wake.

WEST WINDS

Here and There in Local Sport

By EDDIE WEST

Big cities win most of the toasts because of numerical advantages, but the best athletes hail from the sticks.

Among entrants in the National Interscholastic track and field meet at Chicago Saturday: a 1:07 half-mile from Greenwood, Miss.; a 4:28 mile from Pretty Prairie, Kan.; a 15-flat high hurdler from Eagle Lake, Texas; a 205-foot javelin tosser from Pineville, Ore.; a 59-foot shot putter from Lorraine, Kan.; and a 24-foot broad jumper from Monroe, Ga.

Jim Musick, the Southern California crashback from Santa Ana, is in the movies. Radio company signed him for a short subject, may give him a "football face" and screens well, so the rumor persists that "Jarring Jim" may not return to the Trojans this fall, although football has an appeal few refuse.

Interest in nocturnal baseball is lagging inland. Riverside and Colton pack 'em in but San Bernardino, Corona, Pomona and Redlands are having difficulty making both ends meet. The trouble seems to be that the fans just don't care about the also-rans.

Jim DeMers, holder of the American record in the javelin throw, has sent his credentials to Riverside junior college. He hopes to transfer from Jaycee to U. S. C. where he would have two years of eligibility. DeMers went to high school at Sand Point, Idaho, attended the University of Oregon as a freshman.

Joe McCluskey, Fordham two-miler, took a spill on the first turn at the I. C. A. A. meet, picked himself out of the cinders, went on to win. Such courage is not easily forgotten. Hence, McCluskey's race brings to mind the determination in the face of overwhelming odds of Harold Breeding, Santa Ana's greatest miler, who did the same thing only he was spiked and lost a shoe during the first turn mix-up. Breeding would have made one of the coast's greatest milers. He had everything. I was a college scout I should investigate that boy's credentials.

Hill-Carden Club Winner After Scare

The first big moment of the Santa Ana City League baseball season was a thing of the past today but the circuit-leading Hill and Carden still shuddered when they thought about what almost happened to them in the Bowl last night.

The Cloisters won their sixth straight start, 10-9, but had to put on a five-run rally in the last inning to dispose of Al's Auto service which led all the way until the leaders went on a rampage in the seventh, drove H. Staton out of the box and made the winning run off old "Tex" Bergman who tried to do a rescue act. Arnold's double broke up the ball game after Higashi, Sands, Nickey and Heard had hit safely.

SHUCKS! THAT ONE'S ONLY GOOD FOR TWO!

Hill and Carden had to use two pitchers, too, and they were both trotted a bit roughly by the surprising Automaten.

The second half of the twin bill was a runaway for the Santa Ana 20-30 club, which routed the First Baptists, 16 to 5. An eight-run assault, during which the team batted as early as the third inning.

Two games again tonight: Monroe's Pharmacy vs. Spurgeon M. E.

Friday's Schedule

Olive at Santa Ana; Westminster at Garden Grove; North Long Beach at Huntington Beach; Long Beach at Whittier; Anaheim at Long Beach.

Olive was in sole possession of second place in the National Night Baseball league today and needed only a victory over the crippled Santa Ana Stars Friday night to secure the runner-up position.

The Packers shook off Whittier, with whom they were tied, in a 4-1 game at Olive last night. Rudy Heman outpitched Lloyd Johnson decisively. Pat Ehrlich's line drive home run that handcuffed Freddy Gunther in left field being the only run off his mean curve.

Olive got two in the third when Thomas beat out a punt, Thierry doubled and Peterson singled; another in the sixth when Gunther hit a homer, and its last in the eighth on walks to Hatfield and Sweet, an outfield fly and a wild throw-in.

The score:

CRACK CATCHER LOST TO TEAM FOR 3 WEEKS

Santa Ana today was able to glean but scant satisfaction from its hollow, 6-2 National Night baseball victory over Westminster at Westminster last night.

The game cost the Stars the services of their peerless catcher, Elwayne ("Benny") Wilcox, for an indefinite period, possibly for most of the season, certainly for the next 10 days.

A foul tip from the bat of "Butch" Burns, Westminster outfielder, ripped a deep gash under and above Wilcox's right eye, and put him out of commission in the eighth inning. If the optic is injured internally, as feared, it is questionable when Wilcox again will be able to go behind the bat.

Attending physicians who took eight stitches in the catcher's badly torn eye estimated it would be three weeks before Wilcox will be in service. They do not believe there are internal injuries.

Wilcox is the outstanding catcher in night baseball. Smart critics have long given him much of the credit for the defensive success of the Santa Ana club, and particularly of its pitching staff. His smart handling of moundmen and his steady influence has often carried the Stars through stormy sessions. If the club is forced to start the second half of the split schedule without him they will be under a severe handicap especially as Wilcox is the only catcher on the Stars' roster.

Ed Daley, first baseman, filled in for Wilcox after the Burns' and turned in a nice job. He does not pretend, however, to be a receiver, despite his versatility.

Earl Morrill pitched fine ball for Santa Ana and had a shutout for seven innings, as well as a long string of strikeouts which eventually totaled 12. Westminster got a run in the eighth on Hankmeier's life on an error by E. Daley, Burns' infield single, DeBusk's infield out and a passed ball. The Aviators got another one in the ninth on Baker's single in field and Sauer's Texas leaguer to right on which Morrill made a wild throw to second that let Baker scamper all the way home.

Santa Ana's runs dribbled across one-by-one. Darwin Scott's triple to left and a fly to deep short by Smith accounted for one in the second. L. Daley's single, McGuire's error, Ed Daley's infield out and Bell's single manufactured another in the second. Morrill's double, L. Daley's fly to left and Ed Daley's single that hit a wire accounted for a third run in the fifth. Walks to the Daley brothers and Scott's double produced one more in the seventh. L. Daley's infield single, Ed Daley's walk, a double steal and two Westminster errors completed the Stars' scoring in the ninth.

COLE RETURNS TO ACTION AS WILCOX HURT

"Big Bill" Cole, giant coach, who "retired" from active service this year, probably will return to the Santa Ana Stars' lineup during the period of Catcher "Benny" Wilcox's incapacitation.

Manager George Lackaye has asked Cole to play first base until Wilcox, injured at Westminster last night, returns to the game. Ed Daley, the regular first sacker, will catch while Wilcox is on the hospital list.

John Lutz, substitute first baseman, was released to Garden Grove only yesterday and Daley's shift behind the bat leaves the club without an experienced guardian of the initial bag.

A bit sobered by the loss of the popular Wilcox, the Stars go to Riverside for an exhibition game tonight. Joe Ochoa will pitch for Santa Ana, Lackaye announced.

Born in England, December 31, 1870, Connolly never played a game of baseball and did not see one played until he was 15. "Cricket was the only game he knew until he appointed himself bat boy for a team that represented Natick, Mass., after his parents moved to this country in October, 1884. He later managed the Natick team, but when asked

THE INDIGNANT GOLFER

Crisp comment is being received by many newspapers which are conducting a poll among golfers on the merits or drawbacks of the new 1.55-1.68 golf ball. Most of the talk about the larger-lighter ball seems to be adverse—at least louder than the defense of the old 1.62-1.62 pill.

A public course player in Detroit enumerates the following faults he finds with the new ball: "Is impossible on a windy day for the average 90 to 110 player. Takes side spin too easily. Increases scores from 6 to 15 strokes. Less distance than old ball. Harder than old ball to control on putting greens. Penalizes partly hit shots. Cannot be hit as crisply with the irons as the old ball could."

Another golfer, urging "repeal of the Ballstead Act," declares that "besides restricted flight and uncertain behavior in wind, the great fault of the new ball is that it won't putt, especially on public course greens. After a few hours traffic on public links putting sur-

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 17.—(UP)—When a strictly "underdog" crew that had been beaten by everybody but the Coney Island beach patrol goes up against the strongest field in the country and not only whips that field but a driving rainstorm as well, it seems a downright shame to suggest that the heroic boatload should not have won at all.

Yet, without meaning to detract one whit of glory from Navy's smashing triumph in the varsity race here yesterday and giving the Middles full credits to this writer to begin its drive at the two-and-a-half-mile mark instead of the three miles flag, cost Jim Wray's boatload its second successive Poughkeepsie regatta. Moreover it seemed that the Ithacans were entirely too absorbed in the progress of Syracuse, their lane neighbor far out in the river. They seemed to be laboring under the impression that Syracuse, not Washington or Navy, was the crew to beat.

Make no mistake about it, Navy sent a real crew out on the Hudson. If you don't believe it the Middles time of 18 minutes 54 1-5 seconds should convince you, for it is the fourth best time ever made in the long history of the regatta and less than 20 seconds slower than the all-time mark hung up by California's mighty 1928 outfit.

The victory marked Navy's first major triumph of the year. The Middles were defeated by Harvard, Columbia and Syracuse during the regular season.

Columbia Far Behind

If Syracuse was the biggest disappointment of the regatta, Columbia was a close second. Dick Glendon's Lions, 1929 champions, like Cornell and Washington, went to the post undefeated and were expected to finish no worse than one, two, three. The best they could do was get seventh, a bell ahead of untitled Wisconsin. M. I. T. brought up the rear. California, the other far western entrant,

THE INDIGNANT GOLFER

Crisp comment is being received by many newspapers which are conducting a poll among golfers on the merits or drawbacks of the new 1.55-1.68 golf ball. Most of the talk about the larger-lighter ball seems to be adverse—at least louder than the defense of the old 1.62-1.62 pill.

A public course player in Detroit enumerates the following faults he finds with the new ball: "Is impossible on a windy day for the average 90 to 110 player. Takes side spin too easily. Increases scores from 6 to 15 strokes. Less distance than old ball. Harder than old ball to control on putting greens. Penalizes partly hit shots. Cannot be hit as crisply with the irons as the old ball could."

DEFIES NEWTON

Another golfer, urging "repeal of the Ballstead Act," declares that "besides restricted flight and uncertain behavior in wind, the great fault of the new ball is that it won't putt, especially on public course greens. After a few hours traffic on public links putting sur-

SEED BOROTRA FIRST IN BIG TENNIS MEET

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 17.—(UP)—Jean Borotra of France headed the list of seeded players in the draw for the Wimbledon tennis championships made today. Play starts June 22.

Cilly Aussem of Germany heads the women's list. Helen Jacobs of California is on the list as are Betty Nuthall, Phillis Muddford and Mrs. Fearnley Whittingstall of England, Mme. Rene Mathieu of France, Lili D'Alvarez of Spain, Helen Krahwinkel of Germany.

Miss Elizabeth Ryan announced last night that she does not intend to compete in the matches at Wimbledon this year.

Miss Ryan has been a regular competitor since 1914.

Offering the general public the use of the Santa Ana high school swimming pool day and night, during the summer months, Lester W. Archer, supervisor of the summer playground work, released the schedule and regulations today which will go into effect next Monday.

This is the first time the plunge has been open during the summer months. It will be on trial for one month and if at the end of the time, there has been sufficient patronage to meet overhead expenses, the pool will remain open until September.

Clyde Patton, swimming coach at the high school, and Marion Parsons, star member of the Santa Ana junior college swimming team for two years and a senior life saver, will have charge and give swimming instruction free of charge during morning sessions.

There will be three periods of swimming during the day, from 10 to 12 a. m., 1 to 5 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m. Towels will be furnished bathers gratis. Suits may be rented for 10 cents or supplied from outside. Grammar school children will be admitted for 10 cents, junior high, senior high and junior college students for 15 cents and adults for 25 cents. These prices apply for any period, night or day.

NEED MORE ENTRIES IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

More entries are needed in the Santa Ana round-robin tennis tournament, according to Director Merle Ewell who said that Classes A and B would be combined unless players disclose more interest in the competition starting this week on the high school courts.

Class A results: Arno C. Finster defeated Don Park, 2-6, 7-5, 6-4; Toby White won from Eugene Robinson, 2-6, 6-3, 6-3. Class B—Dr. Kenneth Coulson defeated Franklin Nickey Jr., 3-6, 6-3, 6-1; A. B. Anderson beat Floyd Klingenberg, 2-6, 8-6, 6-4.

LOCAL JAYCEE TO TAKE MANY PREP ATHLETES

"Trade at Home" seems to be the motto of a majority of athletic-minded boys in the graduating class at the Santa Ana high school because Santa Ana junior college will welcome just three-fourths of the cap and gown brigade next September.

If a recent survey holds true, fifteen will enter the Don Institution and five will matriculate elsewhere. This is a relatively small group of athletes to graduate and the Saint's scores of next year will not be crippled as much as usual.

In the football division, 12 men with varying experience will enter junior college and three will go to some other school. The boys who may be future Don grid stars are Bill Campbell, Tom Cole, Bill Donahue, Bill Friend, Hideo Higashi, Harold Knighten, Ed Lansdown, Garth Olsen, Maxson Stull, Minor Whitford, Hatsuami Yamada and Rodney Yould.

Gilbert Meisner will go to California, Don Casey to Caltech and Elwood Rittner to Iowa State college. Al Reboin and Harold Pangle, big shot backs, are still "on the fence" although either U. S. C. or U. C. L. A. are said to be nearest their current affections.

Basketball loses nine men, six going to junior college. The Dons will be Campbell, Friend, Higashi, Olsen, Stull and Yamada while Frank Burke will go to Oberlin, Meisner to California and Casey to Caltech.

The Saint baseball squad was four deepening. Higashi and Alfred Peterson will become Don freshmen while Meisner will go to California and Rittner to Iowa state. Only six trackmen will leave but five of them will remain on the Poly oval under the red and black standard of the junior college. Jaycee runners will be Campbell, Donahue, Gene Hall, Yamada and Knighten, while Meisner will go to Berkeley.

Paul Jacques, famed high jumper, captain of the 1931 Saint track team, does not graduate until February. He probably will enter Jaycee, too.

The Poly tennis squad is the least hurt of all the teams in that Friend and Walter Carruthers the only graduates and will both enter junior college. In the swimming pool brigade, five natators will depart but four will continue their activities in the Andrews Gym tank for the Jaycee. Friend, Duncan Harnois, Higashi and Yould will enter junior college and Burke will go to Oberlin. Wrestling is the other sport on the Saint calendar and will lose three men to the junior college, Donahue, Ed Lansdown and Yamada.

WILLARD SCHOOL TO HAVE LOCKER ROOMS

The new Frances Willard junior high school on North Ross street will be equipped with a shower and locker building costing between $20,000 and $30,000, according to a tentative decision reached by the Santa Ana board of education last night. The structure will be located directly west of the shop building. Plans, drawn by Arnold Lund, Frances Willard athletic director, were referred to architects for estimates of cost.

ROBBERS' ROOST

INSTALLMENT 15

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING INSTALLMENTS.

In the wildest part of Southeastern Utah, in early days, Bernie Herrick, an Englishman, established a cattle ranch. On the theory that it is better to have rustlers work for him than against him, Herrick hires two rival desperadoes, Hays and Heeseman. A stranger, young, handsome, and a wonderful pistol shot, throws in with Hays. He is Jim Wall, who intimates that he has had to leave Wyoming. Hays and his gang plot to drive off Herrick's cattle in bunches of two thousand, until they have cleaned the Englishman out of his ranch. The only danger Jim Wall discovers what is going on and "tip off" Herrick. However, the cattle drives to Grand Junction are started. Jim Wall finds himself falling in love with Herrick's sister, Helen, who has come to live on the ranch. He warns her against riding alone and she asks him to accompany her. He coaches her in riding, western style, and finally kisses her. She is angry and dismisses him, but soon relents and asks him not to leave the ranch. On leaving her, Jim is thrilled at the sight of Smoky and his men, returned from the drive with the stolen cattle. Smoky has said the cattle and brought back the money. A quick getaway is imperative. Hays tells his men to go ahead, that he will join them on the way. The riders arrive at the canyon and to their amazement and Jim's dismay, find a lieutenant are sighted with Helen Herrick riding between them—a captive.

"So help me!" he whispered, and sank down on the stone. That center rider was Helen Herrick. For a moment a hell riot in Jim Wall's breast. How he cursed himself for a vacillating idiot! His intuition had been right. He had seen through this robber leader's behavior at Star Ranch. But like a fool he had not trusted himself. Jim grew cold at his very marrow. His intelligence did not wholly succumb to his fury. He strove to think. This sound had gotten Helen, just now, it was useless to conjecture. But to kill him then, right on the spot. That gave Jim Wall pause. Hays' men would roar at this deal, involving them in the abduction of a woman, still they would hardly go so far as to resist him with arms. Jim crushed down his deadly impulse. He would wait.

Well indeed had it been for Jim to spy this trio long before they reached him. He had time to recover, to think what was best. If Hank Hays had come upon Jim suddenly it would have been his doom.

One of the pack animals neighed shrilly and then all the horses stuck up their ears.

"Say, I heard a horse-shoe ring on a stone," called Mac, who had ears as keen as a horse.

"What's that?" queried Smoky, sharply. He leaped up.

"Look! Riders comin'!" exclaimed Brad Lincoln.

"Can't be nobody but Hank."

Jim leaped off the rock, crashing down behind the watching men, startling them. "Smoky, it's Hays. I saw him a mile off."

"I was too flabbergasted," replied Jim, coolly, as he joined them.

"It's Hank all right," said Mac. "Shore, I see him now. That's Hank."

"Jim, what flabbergasted you?" demanded Smoky.

"Three riders!" flashed Jim.

"Wall... So I see, What you make of that?" ejaculated Smoky.

The three emerged clearly from behind the cedars. A blank silence ensued. Jim at last got the tigerish nerves under control. His thoughts were whirling.

"Hump, little rider in between," commented Lincoln.

"That's Spurrhawk behind."

"Who's the third party?"

"Hank shore is a queer duck, takin' up with strangers like he does."

"Somebody with a mask on!"

"An' a long slicker."

"Fellers," rasped out Smoky.

"That's a woman with a veil!"

Jim thought the moment had come. "Men, Hank has double-crossed us. He's stolen Herrick's sister!"

Hank Hays led his two followers to within a few feet of the cluster of riders. Jim's lightning-swift glance took the three in, their dust-caked horses, and flashed back to fasten upon Miss Herrick. Her features were not visible through the veil. The linen coat showed the wear and tear of contact with brush. She had on riding boots and overalls.

"Wal, you're all here but Jeff," began Hays.

"Jeff'll be comin' by now," replied Smoky. "What you aimin' fer?"

"Brakes of the Dirty Devil."

"I take it you've fetched Herrick's sister."

"You're a bright boy."

"Hank Hays, after all you double-crossed us," roared Smoky.

"You're a liar, you're a cheat. You think you can drag us in on a deal like this. I thought you acted powerful queer. So it was this gurl you tricked us fer? You...!"

Jim Wall strode forward and aside, his swift action menacingly significant.

"Hays, your jig's up. She goes back!"

"Wait a minute," the robber replied, stridently. "Stick or quit, if you want. I fetched this gurl for ransom. She came willin', cause if she hadn't I'd killed Herrick. He'll pay twenty-five, maybe fifty thousand for her."

Jim interposed again: "Hays, you're a dirty liar. You didn't steal this gurl for ransom," he called out, fiercely. Then, turning to the dejected figure on the gray horse: "Miss Herrick, is he telling the truth?"

"Yes, he stole me for ransom," she replied, with emotion. "They broke into my room—one through the window, the other at the door. They threatened me with guns. If I screamed they'd kill me! If I didn't come with them they'd kill my brother. I agreed."

"We tied Herrick up before we got the gurl," said Hays. "An' after, we made him promise to pay handsomely. An'—"

"That's enough," snapped Jim. "Give me a man or two. We'll take her back and get the money."

"Hold on. That was somethin' I had in mind," drawled Hays. "But it didn't work. I had to kill Progar. An'—"

"Who's Progar?"

"Wal, he's Heeseman's right-hand man. Now it happened that foxy Heeseman was plannin' the same trick I pulled. Progar an' another feller ketchin' us takin' the gurl out. The other feller got away."

"That's wuss than ever!" screamed Smoky. "Heeseman will find out."

"Huh, I should smile in particular that he will. We seen his outfit on your trail!"

"Shet up! Hosses comin'!"

The ensuing rush was quelled by Smoky's ringing order. "Hold on! It's Jeff!"

An opening in the grove showed bridges plunging upon them.

"Heeseman's outfit's trailin' us," he announced. "Back about five miles when I left my post."

"Fellers, grab your rifles an' take to cover," yelled Smoky.

Hays made a dive for his horse and, mounting, leaned over to take up a rope halter round the neck of the horse Miss Herrick was riding.

"You lied—to me," she cried, angrily. "You assured me that if I'd come without resistance you'd soon arrange for my freedom. Here we are miles from Star Ranch."

Hays paid not the slightest attention to her, but started off, leading her horse.

"Jim Wall, are you going to permit this outrage?"

"I'm powerless. Miss Herrick," he replied, hurriedly. "If Heeseman catches us you'll be worse off."

The leader headed down the slope, dragging Miss Herrick's horse. Jim could hear the girl's protestations. The other riders made haste to line the pack horses. Smoky brought up the rear.

No doubt about Hays knowing his way! He rode as one familiar with this red clay and gray gravel canyon. The pack horses kicked up a dust like a red cloud.

Jim kept unobtrusively working ahead until there were only three pack horses in front of him, and he could see Hays and the girl at intervals.

Hays yelled back for his riders to hurry. He pointed to the left wall as if any moment their pursuers might appear there.

The next sign from Smoky was a rifle shot. Jim espied something flash along the rim, high up and far back, out of range, if it were a pursuer.

"Rustle!" shrilled Smoky. "I seen riders. They ducked back. They'll aim to head us off."

Hays bawled back an order and pointed aloft.

Suddenly riders popped into view back on the point of an intersecting canyon. Hays and Latimer opened fire with their revolvers. The riders began to return the fire with rifles. Jim saw Latimer knocked off his horse, but he leaped up and mounted again, apparently not badly injured. He raced ahead after Hays, who rode fast, dragging the girl's horse, and at the same time shooting at the riders until he passed around a corner of the canyon. Latimer soon disappeared after him. Then the riders above turned their attention to the rest of Hays' outfit.

Jim had a quarter of a mile to ride to pass the corner ahead of safety. The pack horses were excited, tearing up the canyon. Jim gained on them. Then he began to shoot.

One of his first shots hit a horse, and his seventh connected with a rider, who plunged like a crippled rabbit back out of sight. The others of Heeseman's outfit took alarm, dodged here and there to hide, or ran back. Jim emptied the magazine of his rifle just before he passed round into the zone of safety.

Jim hauled Bay to a halt, and soon the pack horses galloped by, every pack riding wild. Lincoln dashed into sight first, closely followed by Mac, Happy Jack and Jeff, all with guns smoking. And lastly came Smoky, hatless, blood on his face.

"Jest barked," panted Smoky. "Load yer guns—an' ride on!"

Around the next turn they came upon Hays and his two riders. With another big intersection canyon on the right, it looked as if their pursuers were held up.

Deeper and deeper grew the canyon. Mid-afternoon found the fugitives entering a less constricted area, where sunlight and open ahead attested to the vicinity of a wider canyon, surely the Dirty Devil. And so it proved.

Hays waited for his riders and the pack animals to reach him.

"Hank, air you aimin' for that roost you always give us a hunch about but never produced?" asked Smoky.

"I've saved it up, Smoky, fer jest some such deal as this."

Jim, over the back of his horse, watched Miss Herrick. She was tiring and her head drooped.

The robber took up her halter and, straddling his horse, he spurred into the muddy stream. Hays led into the middle of the river and then turned downstream.

An hour later, he turned into a crack that could not be seen a hundred yards back, and when Jim reached it he was amazed to see the robber leading up another narrow gorge, down which ran another swift, narrow stream. Jim appreciated that a man would have had to know where this entrance was, or he could never have found it. The opening was hidden by a point of wall which curved out and around.

This gash wound like a snake into the bowels of the colored, overhanging earth. Two long 'hours later Hays led up out of the boxing canyon. A hummocky, lonely, black and gray landscape rolled away on every side to the horizon of stars. Then abruptly they began to descend into a black, round hole the dimensions of which were vague. Presently they reached a bottom from which weird, black, bold walls stood up, ragged of rim against the sky.

"Hear we air," called out Hays. "Throw saddles an' packs. Let the hosses go. No fear of hosses ever leavin' this place."

Jim's night-owl eyes discerned Hays lifting Miss Herrick off her horse and half carrying her off toward the rustling trees. Jim, making pretense of leading his horse, followed until Hays stopped at the border of what appeared a round grove of cottonwoods impenetrable to the sight.

"Oh, for God's sake—let go of me!" gasped the girl, and sank down on the grass.

"You may as well get used to that," replied Hays, in a low voice.

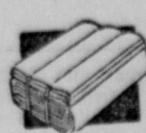

"Do you want anythin' to eat?" "Water—only water. I'm—chokin'."

"I'll fetch some an' a bad for you."

Report Increase Of 229 Units In School Attendance

LEGION POST AT PLACENTIA ADDS MEMBERS

Many prominent Legionnaires were present last night when the drill team of the Santa Ana drum corps initiated seven new members into Post No. 227 at Placentia. The meeting was attended by 150 people.

Following a parade through town by the drum corps and Legionnaires the meeting was opened by Commander Frank Anderson, who introduced the guests, among whom were Burr Belden, of San Bernardino, commander of the twenty-first district, who talked on what the Legion means to the community it is in and what it does, and gave the background and history of the Legion; Abe Gottlieb, of Fullerton, district vice-commander, who congratulated the Placentia Legion on its new hall; Commander Fleming, of the San Bernardino post; George Franzen of Orange, candidate for area commander; past commander of the Orange county council, Brick Grouard of Santa Ana; Commander Turk Sherwood, of the Fullerton post, and Ted Craig of Brea.

New members initiated were Ray Sherman, Fred Yates, J. E. Denny, Manuel Peralta, Julian Allee, Harry Leadley and W. B. Hardy. Members of the drill team were Norman Reeves, of Esperanza, commander; Clifford Thatcher, first vice-commander; George Kellogg, second vice-commander; Bob Steinberger, past commander; and Ralph Hoover, chaplain, the latter four being from Santa Ana.

Announcements made by Commander Reeves included a dance sponsored by the Placentia Legion at the new hall Saturday night; a pancake supper to be given by the W. C. T. U. at the Presbyterian church Friday night, and a show to be put on by the "Optimistic Donuts" at the Santa Ana high school June 25 for the Santa Ana drum corps, the proceeds to go toward new uniforms.

Pictures of Armistice day parades and of the moving and building of the new Legion hall were shown by Warren Bradford, after which sandwiches and coffee were served in the basement by Louis Spelzer, D. M. Encinas, W. G. Warf, Claude Glenn and Commander Anderson.

BREAKFASTERS TO GREET REV. OWINGS

With E. W. Cochems acting as program chairman for the day, members of the Santa Ana Breakfast club are preparing for a royal welcome to be extended their president, the Rev. Harry Owings, when they present their home coming program at tomorrow's session. The president has just returned from the East. Each member will present the returned official with a token of gratitude for his safe return to the West and to the fold of ham and eggs.

Professional dancers from the Gaylord School of the Dance will provide the entertainment. Known as the Six Gaylord Dancers, they will present several feature numbers. Miss Joan Gaylord will direct the troupe and Paul LeBar will accompany at the piano.

In addition to the dance numbers Cochems says there will be another surprise for members of the club.

BILL WINTERS HEADS TWENTY-THIRTY GROUP

Officers for the ensuing fiscal year were chosen at the meeting of the Twenty-Thirty club held last night in Ketter's cafe. Bill Winters was elected president to succeed Hume West. Bill Fernandez and Dr. Ralph Morane were tied for vice president so the matter was settled by the flip of a coin. Dr. Morane winning, making him first vice president and Fernandez second vice president. Dr. Horace Leeling was re-elected as secretary, with Ethel Landersback being chosen for treasurer.

Nomination for board of directors resulted in the following candidates being nominated for office: Ray Fisher, George Bradley, Claude Reed, Hubert Gonzales, and Leland Finley. Four directors will be elected on June 30.

Guy Penn, who was in charge of the program, introduced Wilfred Taylor, speaker. Taylor recently had finished a tour of Europe and used "A Scotch Tour of Europe" as the subject of his talk. He told club members of the many interesting places he had visited on his trip, including various cities in England, France, Denmark, Germany, France and Czechoslovakia, telling of the methods he and a companion used in making the trip comparatively inexpensively.

Leland Finley, chairman of the committee in charge of the steak bake to be held next Tuesday at Irvine park, reported that all plans were complete for the affair. The party will take the place of the regular meeting and wives and sweethearts will be honored guests at the affair.

HORSE TO APPEAR WITH RADIO STARS

The beautiful Arabian mare, Roxanna is scheduled to appear on the stage at the Santa Ana High school Friday night at the entertainment sponsored by the Home Builders class of the First Christian church Bible school. Roxanna is one of the finest Arabians from the horse ranch of V. K. Kellogg, at Pomona, and was a gift to Bill Sharples from Kellogg.

Roxanna will be accompanied by some 18 radio and movie stars comprising the Bill Sharples gang, popular broadcasters of Southern California. They will appear here in a full evening of entertainment in the nature of a stage presentation of their daily "Breakfast Party" broadcast, giving to Santa Ana and Orange county folks an opportunity to see them in action as they appear in their own studio at KXN.

"Bill Sharples" radio broadcast and his public appearances have been endorsed by the leaders in education circles as being not only entertaining and interesting to young and old alike, but clean and

ROTARY GROUP HEARS LECTURE ABOUT MEXICO

Dr. C. N. Thomas, noted lecturer, was the featured speaker at the regular meeting of the Rotary club held yesterday noon at Ketter's cafe. He was introduced by D. K. Hammond, who declared that Dr. Thomas was one of the best informed men in the country on the subject he was to address the club on, which was conditions as they are today in Mexico. He said in part: "Mexico is a land of many problems. These are manifest in their political, economic and educational as well as religious life. However, it is well to remember that there are many wholesome factors at work in Mexico and the country is changing very rapidly. The new trend is manifested by the larger scope of the educational campaign being conducted for the masses. Mexico has a long way to go but has started on the upgrade movement."

In replying to a question as to what effect the killing of the two young men from Mexico in the United States would have in the relationship between the two countries, Dr. Thomas replied, "This is another one of those unfortunate incidents. These disturbing factors occur frequently but fortunately the many forces of friendly contact are constantly in evidence, such as the present 500 teachers from the United States who will go to the Mexico to study at the University."

Dr. Thomas will deliver an illustrated address at the First Christian church Sunday night, on Mexico.

SCHOOL TAX FOR ORANGE 60 CENTS

ORANGE, June 17.—That the city school tax rate will remain the same as the rate set last year was announced today. The tax is 60 cents on each $100 of assessed valuation. The elementary school budget submitted to Ray Adkinson, county superintendent, calls for an expenditure of $103,600 for the coming year.

The tax rate is scheduled for 15 cents for the special building fund, 30 cents for general purposes and 15 cents for the kindergarten. The tax rate remains the same in spite of the fact that a 10 per cent reduction has been made in assessed valuations.

An additional kindergarten teacher will be available owing to the fact that there has been a reduction of $1000 in this budget.

PERISCOPING PROSPERITY FOR SANTA ANA BUSINESS

The so-called business depression has passed for the merchant who gives his customers quality merchandise at a fair price and consistently advertises his merchandise for the benefit of the buying public, according to Bruno Almquist, Santa Ana dealer in ladies' ready-to-wear garments.

"I know that the depression has passed for the merchant who gives his customers 'the break' in the matter of quality merchandise and prices. The merchant who does that today is experiencing a steady increase in business and the one who fails to do this never will know the depression has lifted because the slump of the past year has created a nation of careful buyers for every line of merchandise," he said.

"It is possible for the merchant today to offer merchandise of high quality at prices that never have been experienced in years. The decreased cost of manufacturing has made this offering of better values possible and the retailer who is satisfied with a fair percentage of profit is noting an increase in business."

"The public is buying with more freedom today than it did a few months ago but people are looking for the best values with a little more care than was general a year ago. This year my books show a business increase ranging from 75 to 100 per cent each month over the same month in 1930. One significant fact is the increase in new customers."

"Wholesale prices today are unusually low and as production costs are cut the price to the retailer drops in proportion. The merchant who passes these reductions on to his customers and has maintained this policy has a decided advantage over the retailer who keeps prices up to a high level for the simple reason that the public does not know that the wholesale price has been reduced and will continue to pay high prices."

"But high quality goods and fair prices will not lift the depression alone. The merchant must advertise consistently and honestly. Simply offering a bargain means nothing if the buying public does not know about it."

"Many business men incline to reduce their advertising budget when business lags, giving the excuse that there is no use advertising because no one is buying. People are always willing to buy when assured that they are getting bargains. The only way they can be informed of these bargains is by truthful advertising through reliable mediums such as the daily newspaper and similar mediums."

"The wise merchant, instead of reducing his advertising budget in seasons of depression, increases it at the same time following each drop in wholesale prices with a reduction in merchandise cost to the retail buyer."

"I believe that if all retailers would follow the policy of offering quality merchandise at a fair percentage of profit backed by intensive advertising the so-called

SPEAKER TELLS ADVANCE MADE IN SCOUT WORK

Col. M. B. Wellington, president of the Orange County Council, Boy Scouts of America, was guest speaker yesterday at the noon meeting of Exchange club. He told of the growth of the scout movement in this county during the past eight years.

The speaker said that in eight years the movement had increased from 100 boys comprising four or five troops to an organization of approximately 45 troops with 1004 scouts actually enrolled, another 200 boys, too young to join the scouts, enrolled in cub packs, and 300 adult leaders. On January 1, 1931, the membership totalled 886 boys.

Reasons for this growth are intelligent leadership and the principles of scouting that appeal to every boy. The speaker said: "Scouting has no 'don'ts' in it. We train through outlining what a scout is and not what he should not do. The boys are placed on their honor to uphold the Scout oath which embodies the principles of citizenship, character building, religious tolerance and the need for divine guidance, right thinking and right living."

Robert Brown, accompanied by Harry Gestang at the piano, sang several solos. The program was in charge of Charles L. Pritchard.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. McGowan and daughter, Katherine, of Springtown, Okla., and Mrs. May McMullen, of Quannah, Tex., who have been guests of relatives here for the past few weeks, expect to leave for their homes in the southwest the latter part of the week. Mrs. McMullen is Mr. McGowan's sister. The group has been visiting in the homes of Mrs. N. J. McGowan, 285 North Glassell street, Mrs. Bessie Fowler, 121 South Clark street, and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Duling, 740 West Chapman avenue.

Miss Alma Bode and Miss Hertha Ehlert left yesterday to attend the national convention of Waltham leagues. Miss Ehlert is employed by Forgy, Reinhaus and Forgy of Santa Ana and Miss Bode teaches in the intermediate school of this city. They expect to visit New York City, Washington, D. C., Boston and Salt Lake City on the eastern trip. On their return they will separate at Chicago. Miss Ehlert will return to California and Miss Bode will visit friends and relatives in Minnesota, where the family lived for a number of years. From Minnesota she expects to go to Seattle, where she will take the boat for San Francisco to visit friends in that city before returning home.

WHO BOUGHT TREAT?
By NEA Service

LONDON, June 12.—That Englishmen still believe that Scotsmen are tighter than a postage stamp on an envelope was proved when two men named McPherson and McDonald when arraigned in police court on charges of being drunk and raising a disturbance in a "pub." The judge looked over his glasses and asked the prosecutor, "Where's the other fellow?" He just naturally believed someone else had done the treating.

REPORTS PROGRESS OF HINTON FLIGHT

Word has been received by Mortimer L. Hall, secretary of the Santa Ana Exchange club, that Lieut. Walter Hinton, flying the National Exchange plane on the organization's "Service to Aviation Air Tour," has flown approximately 15,000 miles on his nationwide itinerary. Hinton reached Santa Ana several months ago and was honored by the local clubmen and residents of the city.

In each city that he has visited Hinton has been deluged with air mail envelopes for cachet stamps commemorating the tour. He has already visited 38 Exchange clubs and has made 245 appearances for speaking engagements before high schools, leading business and professional groups of men and women or broadcasting over radio stations. More than 128,000 persons have heard Hinton's stirring messages at meetings alone on this air service mission which constitutes one of the most outstanding events of its kind in the history of American aeronautics, according to Exchangees here.

In his talks Hinton tells of his thrilling experiences in pioneering aviation such as piloting the NC-4 across the Atlantic, his balloon flight which carried him almost to the North Pole, his attempt to connect North and South America by plane and his trip over the Brazilian jungles to chart that area from the air.

JULIA LATHROP RANKS HIGHEST IN PERCENTAGE

An analysis of the annual attendance report for the school year just closed, which was presented to the Santa Ana board of education last night at its special meeting, shows that there was a total gain of 229.7 units in the average daily attendance in the public schools of the city for the year. The report shows average daily attendance of 639.47.

This is expected to mean an increase in the amount of state funds which are apportioned to schools of the state on the basis of average daily attendance. Active enrollment for the school year was 7443.

Julia Lathrop Junior High school ranked first among all the schools of the city in the percentage of attendance for the year, with a total of 97.03 per cent. Second place was held by Fremont elementary school with a percentage of 96.26, while third place went to the high school where the percentage was 95.66.

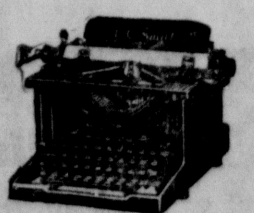

Losses in average daily attendance as compared with the previous year were shown at Julia Lathrop Junior High school, the high school, John Muir, McKinley, Lincoln, Jefferson, Franklin and Edison. The heaviest loss in average daily attendance was at the Jefferson school, where a large number of pupils were transferred to the Wilson district, one of the new elementary schools which started operation this year. The loss at Jefferson amounted to 164.4 pupils. The average daily attendance at Jefferson amounted to 177.9 pupils and that at Wilson 241.4. Lincoln school showed heavy losses in average daily attendance, due to the opening of the Hoover school in that section of the city. The loss at Lincoln was 99.2, leaving a total average daily attendance at this school for the year of 197.4. At Hoover the A. D. was 164.

The largest gain was at the junior college, where there was an increase of 138.3 in A. D. for the year, with an average for the year of 536.7 and a total active enrollment of 546. Adult education also showed a large increase during the year amounting to 53.7.

The average daily attendance for all the schools in the city during the year is as follows:

High school, 974.1; Lathrop, 665; Willard, 678.7; junior college, 536.7; adult education, 139.7; continuation, 24.8; juvenile home, 18.6; Delhi, 245.6; Edison, 208.6; Franklin, 258.4; Fremont, 355.1; Hoover, 194; Jefferson, 177.9; Lincoln, 197.4; Loman, 147.7; Lowell, 324.2; McKinley, 351.6; John Muir, 167.6; Roosevelt, 278.2; Spurgeon, 399.4; and Wilson, 241.4.

Collegiate School at Glendora Graduates Santa Ana Girls

Two young Santa Ana girls, Miss Marion Cruickshank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angus J. Cruickshank of Los Altos ranch, and Miss Harriet Rutan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Rutan, 2435 Riverside drive, were among the graduates this year at the Girls' Collegiate school, Glendora, and many Santa Ana relatives and friends were among the scores of interested guests at the commencement exercises held Friday evening, June 12.

Mr. and Mrs. Cruickshank, the Misses Constance and Josephine Cruickshank, Mrs. Rutan, Miss Margaret Rutan, Mrs. George S. Smith, Mrs. L. A. White, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cruickshank, Miss Lida Cruickshank, Mrs. Perry E. Lewis and Mrs. Edward M. Nealley were among those motoring over to the Little Foothill boulevard city for the interesting ceremonies.

On Monday, Mrs. Rutan and her two daughters, the Misses Harriet and Margaret Rutan, left for an extended eastern trip. They were accompanied to Los Angeles by Mr. and Mrs. George S. Smith. Their first stop was to be in Texas where they will spend two weeks with relatives before continuing on to New York City, Boston and other eastern cities.

Returning to Ohio, the Santa Anas will join Mr. Rutan who has been recuperating in the Buckeye state. He made the trip east via the Panama canal, and is much improved in health, according to word received by friends and relatives here. He will accompany his wife and daughters back to California in the latter part of August.

Delicate Color Scheme Observed at Party in Neer Home

In entertaining at a lovely party in her home, 215 Hickory street recently, Mrs. Claude Neer employed a pink and green color scheme in all appointments of the afternoon. The delicate tints were first introduced in tallies distributed for the chosen game, pinocle.

With the conclusion of the card session, a pretty green boudoir pillow was presented to Mrs. Emmett Allen, who was fortunate in holding high score. For scoring second high, Mrs. Harry Brown was awarded a covered vegetable dish in pink glass. A green salt and pepper set of clever design was given Mrs. Henry Seidel for holding third high honors, and Mrs. K. A. King was consoled with a set of beach forks.

The enjoyable refreshment menu which followed again embodied the pink and green motif, and was served at tables spread with pretty linens and matching napkins. Mrs. Henry Seidel and Mrs. Charles Sullivan assisted Mrs. Neer in serving.

Those sharing Mrs. Neer's hospitality included Mesdames Charles Sullivan, Henry Seidel, Emmett Allen, Louis Bittle, Philip LaLonde, Earl Lepper, Barney Brock, Kenneth A. King, James Farren, Harry Brown and Noble Watson.

Mr. and Mrs. Crane Celebrate Golden Wedding Day

Celebrating the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Crane of 602 Cypress avenue, was a happy affair of Sunday when members of the family circle were entertained at a special banquet in the private banquet hall of the handsome new Green Cat cafe.

The table presented a beautiful appearance with its floral centerpiece of banked pompon dahlias, roses, gladioluses and fern in an effective arrangement fully three feet long by 12 inches in width. At each place was a souvenir menu card embossed in gold, headed with a wreath enclosing the date, 1881.

Beneath this, the shining letters read, "Golden Wedding Anniversary Banquet honoring Inez M. Crane and William M. Crane, Sunday, the fourteenth of June, nineteen hundred and thirty-one; Green Cat cafe, 415 North Main street, Santa Ana, California."

On the second page of the card, the golden letters told of the menu served, beginning with California fruit cocktail followed by a bobolink; salad, relishes and the main course of roast young turkey, cranberry sauce, fresh garden peas, candied sweet potatoes, and a dessert course of wedding cake, French vanilla ice cream, salted almonds and coffee.

The wedding cake bore 50 gleaming candles and was lettered "Golden Anniversary." After it had been enjoyed with other details of the dessert, Mr. and Mrs. Crane were each presented with a handsome Hamilton wrist watch from their children, as a memento of the happy and significant celebration.

One daughter, Mrs. Edward Davis of Vancouver, was unable to be present for the family reunion, but telegraphed her congratulations and good wishes. George L. Tedford of Los Angeles, a son-in-law, also was absent, as he is on a fishing trip in Oregon. Those sharing the joyous occasion with Mr. and Mrs. Crane were Reid L. Crane and Mrs. Corie Seymour of San Francisco; W. M. Crane Jr. and Mrs. George Tedford of Los Angeles.

Before her marriage of 50 years ago, Mrs. Crane was Miss Inez M. Reid. The marriage took place in Fort Wayne, Ind., where they made their home for many years. They came to California in 1903 and have lived in Santa Ana ever since, and a host of friends join with their children in the wish that they may be privileged to celebrate many other anniversaries in an equally happy manner.

TALENTED YOUNG DANCERS TO APPEAR ON RECITAL PROGRAM

Miss Vera Getty, one of the members of this year's graduating class at Santa Ana high school, will be a solo dancer at the Claire Coutant School of Dancing recital at Ebell auditorium Thursday night. She is a silver medal winner in the studio's annual medal event. Little Miss Gloria Clem, 9-year-old daughter of the Stanley Clem, will be another young artist to be featured at the recital. She has become well known for her acrobatic dances, and like Miss Getty, has appeared on various programs here.

Pre-Nuptial Courtesy For Miss Forgy Is Lovely Affair

One of the final pre-nuptial courtesies extended Miss Dorothy Forgy, whose marriage to Charles Kinne was an event of Saturday, June 13, was an afternoon tea whose pleasant features are being recalled by friends of the hostess, Mrs. Fred Forgy. The affair was given in her home on Oakmont street between the hours of 4 and 6 o'clock.

Mrs. Horatio J. Forgy, mother of the honoree, assisted the hostess in receiving. Gleaming bridal white was chosen as the decorative theme, and found expression in the many bouquets of Easter lilies, larkspur and sweet peas which adorned the rooms. White candles were placed at intervals throughout the home, and were used also at the tea table where myriads of sweet peas predominated.

A group of Miss Forgy's friends, Mrs. Robert Wade, Miss Edith Twist, Miss Mary Saffley and Miss Lucinda Griffith presided, at the tea urns. Others assisting were Mrs. Wilbur Barr, Mrs. Horace Stevens and Mrs. Baxter Journeat. The charming frocks worn by this group of young women were enhanced by gardenia corsages, harmonizing with those worn by Miss Forgy, Mrs. Fred Forgy and Mrs. Horatio J. Forgy.

Student Recital

Forty pupils of the Claire Coutant School of Dancing who have won awards during the school year, will be presented with bronze, silver and gold medals on Thursday evening when Miss Coutant's summer recital is presented in Ebell auditorium. The program will be open to the public and will begin at 8 o'clock.

The Misses Thelma Trickey, Vera Getty, Betty Bondley, Lorene McMillan and La Verne Parks will be featured soloists, and clever juvenile members who will be featured in dance teams, will be Nadine Ogden and Marjorie Livesey in one number, and Gloria Clem and Thomas Carl Sutton in another. Group numbers, comedy acts and advanced routine will add interest to the program.

Pupils who will receive awards include Thelma Trickey, Vera Getty, Lorene McMillan, Betty Jane Ward, Jane Connor, Josephine Butler, Thomas Carl Sutton, June Irelan Tway, Mary Lucille Walker, Mary Ellen Squires, Ina Low, Helen Johnson, Peggy Johnson, Velma Stroud, Ruth Ann Segerstrom, Henry Segerstrom and Gloria Bradford.

When Mrs. Jay C. Hamill and her daughter, Miss Maurie Hamill, teachers of piano, and Gladys Simpson, Shafter, teachers of dramatic expression, present some 30 intermediate and advanced pupils in recital tonight at 8 o'clock in Ebell auditorium, it is expected that the program will repeat the success and charm of Monday night, when a junior recital was given.

The two events are numbered among interesting spring musical programs, and Monday night's large crowd is expected to be duplicated tonight. Among the programmed features are readings by Miss Mary Clamont, who created a sensation last night at the Santa Ana Conservatory recital. Miss Clamont, who received her initial training under Mrs. Shafter, will take the place of Miss Mabel Pruitt who left this morning for Stanford.

On Monday night, the numbers by the small children were especially enjoyable and reached their climax in the pretty Chinese legend which was the finale to the evening. Taking part in this dramatic event were Leebly Peale, Bluma Hurwitz, Jane King, Charlotte Guggie, Betty Jane Timmons, Betty Jo Willis, Roberta Mosbacher, Howard Brown and Burr Shafter, Jr.

Tiny Marilyn Hamill, Rosemary Brown, and Darlene White were among other small expression pupils, while among Mrs. Hamill's music pupils doing exceptionally well, were Wallace Enderle, Lela Slaback, Eleanor Lacy, Kathleen Cox, Beverly Eckles, and many others, all playing with a nice precision that made their numbers most charming.

The setting was very lovely with coral gladioluses, orchid buds and tall candles.

Pomona Graduates Are Married at Charming Home Ceremony

Following closely their graduation from Pomona college was the marriage of Miss Edith McFadden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McFadden, and Kenneth Lindsay, son of Mrs. Mary Lindsay, an event of last night at 8 o'clock in the McFadden home, 1108 North Main street. About 200 relatives, family friends and college associates of the young couple were present at the ceremony, conducted by the Rev. W. H. McPeak, pastor of the United Presbyterian church.

It was beneath an archway of greenery, in the midst of massed blossoms, lighted by white candles, that Miss McFadden and Mr. Lindsay exchanged vows. Their entrance was preceded by vocal solos, "At Dawning" and "All For You," by Mrs. C. A. Schweissinger of Eagle Rock, accompanied at the piano by Miss Margaret Pierce of Redlands.

As Miss Pierce played Lohengrin's Wedding March, the bridal party proceeded to the altar through a colorful aisle formed by five little maids in bouffant frocks, Janet and Barbara McFadden, of this city, Elizabeth and Elmina Caulkins, of Inglewood, and the bride's bridesmaids, Flora McFadden, little Eleanor Hinds of Glendale, only 13 months old, was too small to act as official flower girl, but nevertheless carried a basket of summer blossoms.

Miss McFadden, a lovely brunette, recently named the most beautiful girl at Pomona college, wore the traditional white satin. Her filmy veil was caught to her hair with a strand of pearls, the gift of Mr. Lindsay, and she carried bride's roses and lilies of the valley. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annabelle McFadden, as maid of honor, gowning in blue organza with white carried flowers in the same delicate hues.

A trio of charming blouses served as bridesmaids, and included Mrs. Kenneth Klingman, San Pedro; Mrs. Virginia Colvin, Glendale, and Miss Marjorie Lindsay, a sister to the bridegroom. Their frocks were of ruffled organza in blue and coral, and their bouquets were of delphinium blue. All accessories were in contrasting tints.

Donlin Murray, of Huntington Beach, attended Mr. Lindsay as best man. Ushers included John Newman of Tustin, Robert McFadden, and Kenneth Klingman, of San Pedro. The young men as well as the bride's attendants were college friends of the young couple.

During the reception which followed, the bride cut her decorated wedding cake, and it was served with coffee, punch, and moulded loaves. Tall white candles were lighted to add to the pretty scene.

For traveling, the new Mrs. Lindsay chose a smart suit in green. The young couple plan to spend some time at Mt. Wilson, and will be gone for several weeks. They will make their home in Santa Ana until August, when they will go east, as Mr. Lindsay plans to enter law school at Cambridge.

During the past several weeks Mrs. Lindsay has been in Pomona for various functions. Among these was one given by girls of Hathaway Mead, the college house; one by Mrs. Virginia Colvin and another by Mrs. Kenneth Klingman.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay were popular students at Pomona college from where they were graduated Monday evening. Mrs. Lindsay was signally honored recently when she was crowned queen of the May Masque, one of Pomona's famous annual ceremonials.

At the latest meeting of Fraternal Brotherhood in K. C. hall, the evening opened with a special drill by the lodge drill team, with the officers seated during the ceremony. The recent picnic which drill team members shared at Irvine park when a steak bake and an evening of dancing were special features, was so enjoyable that plans were made for a general lodge picnic on Friday night, June 19. The members also contemplate an interesting evening on June 25, when they will accompany the drill team to Los Angeles where Victory lodge is planning special features in honor of the local team. Additional entertainment plans include a camping trip and picnic to be held in the near future at Lake Elsinore.

Dinner Guest Learns That Her Birthday Is Celebrated

In entertaining at a pretty appointed dinner of recent date, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Stevens of 457 North Ross street, complimented a friend of Mrs. Stevens' girlhood days in Phoenix, Ariz., Mrs. B. O. Brown of Garney street.

The occasion was Mrs. Brown's birthday, and all details of the enjoyable dinner party emphasize the happy anniversary. Pretty pink roses formed the centerpiece, and tall candles in harmonizing rose tones glowed above their petals. The delectable menu included with the dessert course, an angelfood cake with flickering pink candles which suggested the birthday occasion for the young matron.

Mrs. Brown also was presented with a handsome pillow before the evening came to a close.

Sharing the pleasant affair with Mr. and Mrs. Stevens and their little daughter, Betty Jeanne, were Mr. and Mrs. Brown, Mrs. L. M. Hutchinson and Miss Opal Brownlow.

Lovely Garden Wedding Is Early Morning Function

Just at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, when the garden of the George Hill home in Costa Mesa was at its loveliest, Miss Pauline Hill, daughter of the home, pledged her troth to Edward W. Vardy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Vardy of this city, at a ceremony which found its perfect setting in a leafy rose arbor on the pretty grounds.

The joyous measures of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by Miss Genevieve Vardy, seemed especially appropriate to the occasion, as Miss Hill moved across the grass on the arm of her father, George Hill. She was flower-like in her loveliness in a graceful gown of snowy georgette. Her bodice, finely knife-pleated, was snugly fitting, and the very bouffant skirt was full length. Her embroidered veil fell from a bandeau of pearls and orange blossoms, and she wore her bride's gift of a diamond and crystal pendant and chain. Her formal bouquet gave a touch of delicate color to her costume, for it was formed of pale yellow gladioluses with a shower of Cecil Brunner roses.

Miss Marie Heinmiller of Costa Mesa, filled into the charming garden setting in her graceful costume of seafoam green chiffon with picture hat and other dress accessories in pale ivory tones. Her flowers were pale sweet peas in shower effect.

Little Betty Jean Vardy, sister of the bridegroom, was an appealing sight in pale pink as she scattered flower petals in the pathway of the pretty bride. Edith Vardy served her brother as best man, and Mr. Hill gave his daughter in marriage at the correct point in the impressive wedding ceremony conducted by the Rev. A. F. Hasse. The Rev. Mr. Hasse is pastor of the Costa Mesa Community church.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill and Mr. and Mrs. Vardy joined the young people of the bridal party in a receiving line after the ceremony. The young men as well as the bride's attendants were college friends of the young couple.

At the elaborate wedding breakfast at which the new Mrs. Vardy cut a big three-tiered wedding cake decorated by Mrs. Herman Vardy, with wedding bells. Shortly after the breakfast the newly wedded pair left for a mountain honeymoon, the bride traveling in a blue costume with eggshell accessories. Upon their return they will establish their home in this city where Mr. Vardy is employed with the Walgreen Drug store as window decorator.

Guests at the nuptials in addition to the parents of the two young people, Mr. and Mrs. George Hill and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Vardy; the Rev. Mr. Hasse, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. H. True Eight Club Has Evening Party

True Eight club members and their friends shared a pleasant party recently when they assembled in Kilpatrick's bakery rather than in the home of one of the club members, as is the usual custom. Pink carnations were used in decorating.

Ten tables for bridge were in play and high scores were made by Mrs. H. M. Whisenand and C. E. Jackson. Mrs. R. Conklin received prize for second high score, and Mrs. Sue Parker received the door prize. Refreshments served at 10:30 o'clock completed the pleasant evening.

B. O. Wilson, Hickory street, who is confined to his home with illness, is slightly better.

Mr. and Mrs. Omar Lambert, 1129 West Chestnut street, spent the week end at Big Pines.

Miss Ruth Ogburn, Fullerton, and her niece, Miss Claudine Kidd, of Tustin, left yesterday by automobile for Burley, Idaho, where they will visit Miss Ogburn's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Irwin. They will return the latter part of August.

Miss Lottie Bradiger expects to move this week from Garfield street to Los Angeles, where she will attend summer school and make her future home. Mrs. Margaret House, West Sixth street, will occupy the home vacated by Miss Bradiger.

Miss Grace Shults and Miss Alma Dunlap, teachers at Tustin, left Fullerton Sunday morning via Santa Fe for Ohio, planning to return here the latter part of the summer. They will spend some time in Columbus and Miss Dunlap will visit her parents in Delaware.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dobson, 1515 Durant street, spent Monday in Los Angeles on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Berry Stice and daughter, Ina Mae, of Glendale, were entertained over the week end in the home of Mr. Stice's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Preston, Tustin.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Calhoun and children, 919 North Olive street, and Mrs. Susie Bower, of North Garney street, spent Sunday with friends in San Diego.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Wilson and daughters, Ruth and Merle, of Tustin, left by automobile Monday for the Redwoods where they will enjoy a two weeks' vacation. Mr. and Mrs. George W. Elliott, of Burbank, are occupying the Wilson home during the absence of the owners. Mr. and Mrs. Elliott expect to locate permanently in Tustin.

Mrs. Gaston Griset, who has been confined to her home in Tustin with inflammatory rheumatism for the past several weeks, is gradually improving.

Mrs. Etta Belle Hazen and son, Alden, 1065 1/2 West Sixth street, left today to make their home in Los Angeles. Alden was graduated from Polytechnic high school last Friday night, and expects to attend the Los Angeles Osteopathic college for the coming year.

Mrs. Laura Rogers and daughter, Miss Vivian Rogers, 122 South Ross street, plan to leave via Union Pacific Thursday for Kearney, Neb., where they will visit Mrs. Rogers' son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rogers. Miss Vivian completed her course at Santa Ana high school last Friday and expects to study English and art next year in the college at Kearney. They will be absent from Santa Ana for a year at least.

Mr. and Mrs. George Paul Jr., of Lone Pine Ranch, have left for Yuma, Ariz., where they plan to remain indefinitely. Their son, Bob Paul, is spending his vacation in the mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. I. S. McElvany and children, Vera and Robert, of El Centro, were in Santa Ana this past week-end visiting with Mrs. McElvany's father, L. H. Hill, 910 West Chestnut street. Mr. Hill has been ill for some time, and is reported as improving.

Miss Allen Lair, 309 East Tenth street, has as house-guest, Hazel Page Everett of Catalina Island. Mrs. Everett is a vocal pupil of Ellen Beach Yaw and soloist at the Christian Science church of Avalon, and she and Miss Lair have appeared together on numerous musical programs at the famous summer resort.

Miss E. L. Neal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Neal, 740 Cypress avenue, left yesterday to spend the vacation with her aunt, Miss Hazel Stiffel, in Los Angeles and at the beaches.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Simon Fluor, 1514 North Main street, and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fluor, 2507 North Main street, have returned from a three weeks' northern motor trip to Vallejo and other California sections and onto Oregon points.

Miss Georgia Bell Walton has returned via the S. S. City of Los Angeles, from a several months' stay in Honolulu with Dr. and Mrs. E. D. Kilbourne and Miss Janet Kilbourne. She plans to resume her violin studies and also her teaching and will receive classes in her studio home at 720 West Third street.

Edwin Kilbourne after concluding his year of study at Santa Ana junior college, sailed Saturday on the Wilhelmina to join his parents and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Kilbourne and Miss Janet Kilbourne, in Honolulu. He plans to enter the University of Hawaii in the fall.

Mrs. J. H. Rhinshed, 114 South Bristol street, will leave Wednesday evening for Ft. Wayne, Ind., on a visit.

CUSTARD DESSERTS WILL BAKE BETTER IN SMALL DISHES

Coffee is Also Better When Roasted in Small Lots — Hills Bros' Method

The smaller the dish, the more evenly and quickly the oven heat can penetrate to the center of the custard. Such results cannot be counted upon when large baking dishes are used.

Applying this principle to roasting their fine blend of coffee, Hills Bros. found the way to develop uniform flavor in every ounce. A constant stream of green coffee is introduced into the roaster in automatically measured lots of about three pounds, and passes through in a steady flow, roasting a little at a time. This is accurate control of both the flow of coffee and the temperature.

This process, patented by Hills Bros.—Controlled Roasting—develops a delicious uniform flavor no other coffee has. The ordinary method—roasting in bulk—is virtually lacking in control.

Grocers everywhere sell Hills Bros. Coffee in the vacuum can that keeps it ever-fresh. Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is removed from this can and kept out. Coffee packed in ordinary cans, even if air-tight, does not stay fresh. Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab—the trade-mark—on the can.

GNOCCHI ROMANO

Today I am offering you a new way of making Cheese Souffle. This recipe comes from the Italian school of cookery and is called

Gnocchi Romano
 4 cups flour, sifted
 5 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
 2 eggs, well beaten
 2 cups milk, heated
 Salt and pepper to taste
 Extra butter and grated cheese.
 Put the flour in the top of a double boiler, very slowly add the warmed milk (not too hot) mixing to a smooth paste. Add the beaten eggs, then the cheese and stir constantly until the mixture is thick enough to not drop off a spoon tip.

When the sauce pan is taken from the fire add the butter, salt and pepper and stir until the mixture cools (this part of the operation can be done in the morning).

To bake the cheese pasta, take a glass casserole, dot the bottom with bits of butter, sprinkle thickly with grated cheese and with a spoon arrange loose spoonfuls of the cheese mixture thereon.

Over this layer put more butter and cheese, then more cheese paste, and so on, until the dish is

TODAY'S RECIPE

Avocado Sandwiches

(Alligator Pear) For 4 people use
 2 large avocados
 Juice of 1 lemon
 Salt, pepper, cayenne
 Mayonnaise as desired
 Thin slices whole wheat bread
 3 tablespoons chopped almonds
 Water cress for garnish.

These sandwiches are best if made just at the time of serving—the flesh of the avocado darkens when exposed to air.

Be sure to select well ripened avocados, split and extract the pit, cut in sections and peel. Mash in a bowl, adding a little lemon juice then the seasonings, last of all a small amount of mayonnaise, just enough to make it moist and spready. Have the bread cut thin and de-crusts. Spread with the avocado mixture, cut in triangles, arrange on serving plates, sprinkle with a little chopped almond, garnish with water cress and serve.

Fascinating furnishings and directions for the making will be found in the leaflet this week. I've told you something about the washable window shades, today I am going to just whisper about the cleverest big hassock you can make at home, if you sew a bit, and like to go on snipping adventures. Send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope so I can hurry this so interesting leaflet to you.

Cantaloupe Salad Cup will be the recipe for tomorrow.

ANN MEREDITH.

Friends Plan Party In Observance of Birthday

A group of friends from Santa Ana and Orange planned a surprise party Monday night to honor the birthday anniversary of Mrs. N. I. Mackel, and held the affair in the Mackel home in Orange.

Five hundred was played, with Mrs. J. Strong and G. M. Hunton holding high scores. Guests provided refreshments for the event, serving them at a late hour. To conclude the affair, Mrs. Mackel was presented with many pretty gifts.

Those present, other than Mr. and Mrs. Mackel were Mr. and Mrs. J. Strong, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Hunton, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Jamieson, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Adams, and daughter, Betty.

Queen Esther Girls Close Year With Picnic Supper

Bringing to a close a successful year of varied activities, members of the Queen Esther society of the First Methodist church met this week in the home of Mrs. P. A. Robinson at Newport Beach. Election of officers took place, and Jeannette Lutes was chosen president; Florence Warner, first vice president; Betty Heil, secretary; Ruth Beemer, treasurer; Isabel McCormack, mite box secretary, and Helen Bower, song leader.

At 5:30 o'clock a picnic dinner was enjoyed around a roaring campfire. A business meeting followed with various reports. From the district convention, for which the girls were hostesses a short time ago, a profit of $27 was made. It was announced that the total of the year's earnings equaled $164, all of which was divided among various phases of Home Missionary work.

This was the last meeting of the season for the Queen Esther girls, and much of the evening was devoted to group singing. In concluding, they clasped hands in a friendship circle to sing "Follow the Glean," "Each Campfire Lights Anew," "In True Fellowship" and "Taps."

Many of the girls are planning to attend summer camp in July at the Pacific Highlands.

Afternoon of Bridge Planned to Honor Miss Teas

It was in compliment to Miss Doris Teas, who left yesterday for her home in Canadian, Texas, after spending the past two years in this city, that Miss Mary Lou Heath entertained yesterday afternoon in her home at 2140 Greenleaf street.

Close friends of Miss Teas were bidden to share the afternoon, which was spent in playing bridge. Miss Nellie Marie Hinton and Miss Hazel Berge received prizes for holding high and low scores, while the honoree was awarded a guest prize.

Green and yellow was the color scheme of the afternoon, and was observed during the refreshment hour with bouquets of flowers in those tints.

Those present, other than Miss Teas, the honoree, were Miss Marie Moog, Miss Audrey Dohmer, Miss Louise Proctor, Miss Virginia Warner, Miss Nellie Marie Hinton, Miss Hazel Berge and the hostess, Miss Mary Lou Heath.

Young People Return From Beach Honeymoon

A host of Santa Ana friends of Mr. and Mrs. William Truman of Huntington Beach, will be interested in learning that the young people have returned from a short honeymoon spent at various California beach resorts, following their marriage of Tuesday, June 9.

Mrs. Truman was Miss Maxine Farrar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Farrar, of the Beach city, and Mr. Truman is the son of Mrs. William Truman of Huntington Beach and Banning. Their marriage was a pretty ceremony in the Farrar home amidst a brilliant array of pink and white gladioluses. The bride's loveliness was enhanced by a modish frock of soft rose crepe with which she wore ivory accessories and carried bride roses.

Miss Sarah Turner in apple green served as maid of honor, while Keith Farrar, brother of the bride, assisted Mr. Truman as best man. The Rev. S. J. Rogers of La Verne, read the marriage service.

The young people have many friends in this city who will be interested in their attractive home at 329 Ninth street, Huntington Beach, which was all in readiness for their occupancy as soon as they returned from the motor honeymoon. Both Mr. Truman and his bride graduated from Huntington Beach high school, and the former is in the grocery business. He is prominent in Masonic affairs and is master counsellor of the Huntington Beach chapter of De Molay.

SILVER ACRES

SILVER ACRES, June 17.—A. F. Lalonde and Bennie Drake accompanied Arthur Drake to Brawley Monday.

Mrs. Jack Dyck, assisted by Mrs. L. A. Weldie, entertained the members of the Silver Acres Woman's club at her home on South Sycamore street in Santa Ana. New officers were elected as follows: President, Mrs. Vada Berry; vice president, Mrs. Hattie Drake; secretary, Mrs. Alice Connor; treasurer, Mrs. Mary Head.

Following the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Flora Baker, "500" was played and prizes were won by Mrs. Mary Howard and Mrs. Verna Little. A picnic will be held at Irvine park June 17.

PETER B. KYNE STORY COMING TO WEST COAST

Romantic and with the violent struggle between passionate infatuation and love as its central theme, "Never the Twain Shall Meet," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer romance of the South Sea Islands, will open Thursday at the Fox West Coast Theatre.

The screen version was adapted from the well-known novel by Peter B. Kyne and was directed by W. S. Van Dyke, the man who braved the heart of Africa to film "Trader Horn" and who directed the two Polynesian epics, "White Shadows in the South Seas" and "The Pagan."

educated in the ways of the islands, a native of high caste himself, had direct charge of the Polynesian who acted in the picture. It was his work to relay the director's orders in a tongue and manner that the natives well understood.

Leslie Howard, Conchita Montenegro and C. Aubrey Smith have featured roles in the story of the conflict of east and west adapted from the novel by Peter B. Kyne. Supporting roles are played by Karen Morley, Mitchell Lewis, Hale Hamilton, Clyde Cook, Bob Gilbert, Joan Standing and Eulalie Jensen.

'GOLD DUST GERTIE' CLOSING HERE TODAY

Olsen and Johnson and Winnie Lightner take to the sea in a riotous comedy, "Gold Dust Gertie," which ends its Fox West Coast theatre run tonight at the Fox West Coast theatre.

Any picture with Winnie Lightner is funny, but when she has Olsen and Johnson, stars of "Fifty Million Frenchmen" with her in one show, it's a riot.

The picture has done an unusual business in Santa Ana and is declared as one of the funniest shows of the year.

NEW FUN SHOW FASHION FROLIC AT WEST COAST

Eddie Mahoney's Fun frolic and fashion review, regular feature at the Fox West Coast theatre each Wednesday night, promises to be the biggest yet tonight, according to plans announced today by Norman Sprowl, Fox theatre manager for Santa Ana.

Last week 18 prizes were handed out through the audience, gifts from Santa Ana merchants, together with 10 baskets of groceries. There also were eight acts of vaudeville.

Just what is on the program tonight has not been disclosed for publicity, but it is known that the vaudeville acts this week come from Los Angeles and will not be local talent as has been in the case during the past several weeks. The stage show is being given in addition to the regular feature picture "Gold Dust Gertie," starring Winnie Lightner and Olsen and Johnson, which closes its Santa Ana run tonight.

'WHITE SHOULDERS' COMING TOMORROW

Mary Astor, Jack Holt and Ricardo Cortez appear tomorrow on the screen at the Fox Broadway theatre in a talkie dramatization of Rex Beach's story of martial maladjustments, "White Shoulders."

This Radio picture directed by Mel Brown, who also directed Amos 'n' Andy in their first talking picture, moves through the glamorous settings of New York's upper crust to the Riviera and other fashionable Continental resorts, and to South America in a procession of dramatic episodes. Throughout runs the Rex Beach type of romance—hard-hitting and flavored with action every step of the way.

Story Promises Action
 "White Shoulders" tells the story of a beautiful chorus girl who searches for love rather than luxury, and believes she finds it in Gordon Kent, a multi-millionaire who thinks he can give her both. Kent's ideas of love are primitive and adorned with diamonds. The girl rapidly finds disillusion and tries to escape through the love of a friend of Kent's. The subsequent drama, it is said, twists the tail of standard film plots to give a new punch to the situation which makes it highly realistic.

"MALTESE FALCON" ENDS B'DWAY RUN

Bebe Daniels, who has endeared herself to the public in as many light comedy roles as serious ones, appears as a weird adventures of strange fascinations, in "The Maltese Falcon," the Warner Bros. picture closing today at the Fox Broadway theatre. The tense melodrama is a screen version of the successful novel of the same name by Dashiell Hammett. Roy Del Ruth directed.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAI COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

"Mount Fujiyama," Clowny said, "makes me real dizzy in the head to stand and stare up to the top. Can you climb up there? I'd like to be way up on top and have a little time to step and gaze around at all the sights out in the open air."

The Travel Man then said, "Well son, the climb is hard but really fun. Perhaps, when we have looked around, we may take on that trip. But first I'd like to have you go to somewhere where swift rapids flow. It really is a fine sight that you Tinymites shouldn't miss."

And so the boat that took them out upon Lake Shoji turned about and they were shortly back on shore. The Travel Man said, "Well, we'll hike about a mile from here, where we'll find rapids, have no fear. Perhaps we'll have a chance to ride out in them. Who can tell?"

They hiked along, just full of pep, till Clowny fell right out of step and shouted, "Hey! You walk too fast! I'll have to fall behind." Then Carry said, "Oh, we'll slow down, so we won't lose you, Crazy Clown. I guess a snail is the only thing you wouldn't mind."

At last they reached the rapids where a mist arose and filled the air. Then Carry cried, "I see a boat. It's coming to the shore. Let's hire the man to take us out to find out what it's all about. We'll shoot the rushing rapids, and be mighty thrilled once more."

The trip soon was arranged. The boys hopped in the boat and much noise. The Travel Man said, "I will stay on shore and wait for you. Be sure, now, lads, to hang on tight and everything will be all right. You will be safe, but real excited ere the trip is through."

Fullerton Council Sets Date For Street Protests

ROAD WIDENING WORK TO START IN SHORT TIME

FULLERTON, June 17.—Unanimously passing a resolution of intention to carry out the North Spadra road widening project, the members of the Fullerton city council last night definitely took steps to begin work on the project. The date of July 7 was set for hearing of protests regarding the widening.

Members of the council were confronted by a group of property owners on North Spadra adjacent to the widening project, who demanded assurance from the council that the project north of the Pacific Electric arch would be carried out as well as the strip of property between Chapman avenue and the archway. They declared that at the time of granting rights of ways for the city, they were assured that the entire project would be carried out. O. M. Thompson, one of the property owners opposed to the widening project, suggested that the entire matter of widening be laid aside until all legal and technical matters in regard to the whole project were cleared up, rather than proceed with the first unit as the council had already planned.

City Attorney Albert Launer, at the request of the council, outlined the status of the project at the present time, pointing out that the council members had planned to carry out the project in two units, that being deemed the most economical manner as well as the most practical. He explained that the unit south of the archway included the group of people who had cooperated with the council to the extent of granting rights of ways by free will, and that portion of the project would therefore be carried out first and at the smaller cost to the adjacent property than would be the case north of the archway.

The property owners declared that although the council members undoubtedly had good intentions in regard to the project, they desired to have assurance that the agreement would be fulfilled and that the entire project would be carried out within a short length of time. Council members pointed out that their intention was solely to carry out the project in the most practical way and with the least possible expense to the taxpayers. They assured the property owners that the entire project would be carried out as soon as possible, and that the city was only waiting on the north unit until the state highway commission had taken action north of the city limits in the matter of securing rights of way.

Complete plans and specifications for unit No. 1 of the project as revised by the city engineer were approved by the council.

POLICEMAN RETURNS

ANAHEIM, June 17.—Grant Rude, who is a member of the Anaheim police force, returned Monday from a two weeks' trip back east. Mr. and Mrs. Rude, his mother, Mrs. J. O. Rude, and his sister-in-law, Emma Kueppel, left two weeks ago and drove to South Dakota and Minnesota. His wife and sister-in-law remained back east for a visit and expect to come back by train later.

Holy Name Group Hears Address By Long Beach Judge

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, June 17.—The quarterly convention of Holy Name society was held June 14 at Mission San Juan Capistrano, with 220 representatives of the society present. George Ravenkamp, of Santa Ana, president of the society, presided.

CITY COUNCIL ACTS TO SLICE COURT EXPENSE

LA HABRA, June 17.—In an effort to cut the expenses of the city, a plan was suggested at the regular meeting of the La Habra city council last night by Councilman Albert Thurnher that the city have a court day once each week where traffic cases could be heard. This system would reduce the pay of the city judge from $75 per month to $25 per month, he said.

The suggestion was considered by the councilmen, who delayed action until further details of the plan could be worked out. Judge F. D. Halm, who holds the office was present and stated that he did not see how such an arrangement could be made. The councilman assured him that the effort to cut the expenses in his department was not a personal matter and was not an attack upon his work.

PROGRAM ENJOYED BY KIWANIS CLUB

ANAHEIM, June 17.—Sally Lee Scales, Santa Ana vocalist, was featured on a musical program at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis club held at noon in the Elks clubhouse. She was accompanied by Katherine Steward.

Dr. Max Henderson gave a report of a dental conference held recently in Los Angeles, telling the club members of the new policy of dentists in sponsoring a preventive dental program. Dr. H. C. Wilhelm gave a brief outline of chloroform work.

Completion of plans for the trip around the Los Angeles harbor to be taken tomorrow by members of the club and their wives and guests occupied part of the business session.

Announcement of a week end stag party to be held next Saturday and Sunday at Idyllwild was made. John Price, president, presided over the meeting.

COUNCIL LETS CONTRACT FOR ROAD PROJECT

FULLERTON, June 17.—Bids for the opening and paving of West Commonwealth avenue, through to Grand avenue, in Buena Park were opened at the city council meeting last night, with Steele Finley company being awarded the contract for the project at 15 and one-half cents per square foot for asphalt material.

The new roadway will be 20 feet in width and will connect on with the end of Commonwealth avenue through to the city limits where the county will continue with the highway.

Bids for a new tractor for the street department of the city were referred to the street committee and the street superintendent with power to act.

Ten bids for insurance of city cars and other vehicles were opened and studied by the council, although definite action was referred to a meeting of the board tomorrow morning in the council chambers.

The Fullerton chapter of the Inak Walton League of America, which has been in charge of constructing a community cabin in the city park north of town, was granted the use of the cabin on Wednesday evenings. The petition of the Veterans of Foreign Wars for the use of the cabin on the first and third Thursdays of every month was granted. It was reported that the cabin which is being constructed largely by volunteer labor and material, will be completed soon.

City Attorney Albert Launer recommended the revision of the ordinance regarding garbage cans be amended so as to force all restaurants and commercial houses to keep cans with wet garbage closed at all times.

The matter of changing water lines of the North Spadra district due to the widening project there was referred to the water superintendent.

Shot Gun Used On Nest Of Owls

ANAHEIM, June 17.—It just goes to prove that if you make too much noise, you're liable to get in trouble. So many complaints reached the police station about the nest of owls in the top of a tall palm tree in front of the R. K. Harland residence at 310 North Philadelphia street that the officers thought it was time to do something about it. So a group of officers took a shot gun and went gunning for the owls yesterday afternoon. Officer Sidebottom fired a shot at the owl nest and managed to bring down one of the noisy birds. The others escaped but only temporarily, officers declared.

H. B. Boy Scouts Leave for Camp

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 17.—Between 15 and 20 Boy Scouts left Monday morning for Camp Rokili, where they will attend the summer camp for Boy Scouts. Most of the boys will spend a week to two weeks at camp.

The Boy Scout committees are canvassing the city this week enlisting subscriptions for the Scout quota for this city.

$50,000 BEING SPENT ON SUNSET BEACH RESIDENCES

SUNSET BEACH, June 17.—About $50,000 is being expended in the construction of new residences at Sunset Beach. At Eighteenth and Ocean, George E. Bigelow and Arthur R. Wells, both of whom are officials of the Pacific Pump works at Huntington Park, are erecting two houses that will cost $10,000 each to complete.

Mrs. E. B. Drake, of Holgate Square, Los Angeles, is building a $10,000 strictly modern cottage of eight rooms at Fifteenth and Ocean. T. W. Quine, of Beverly Hills, is building a $7000 home at the corner of Fifth and Ocean. C. W. Lillibridge is completing a five-room stucco at Oak avenue and South Bay to cost $1500.

S. E. Huttman is building a $1500 cottage at Grand Canal and Bayside avenue.

The summer season at Sunset Beach is open and most of the available cottages are engaged and others are being taken. The season opens with such a good demand for cottages that it is considered certain there will be few, if any, vacancies this year.

WEAVING WORK EXPLAINED AT CLUB SESSION

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, June 17.—The regular monthly luncheon meeting of the Capistrano Woman's club was held yesterday afternoon in the social rooms of the Community church, with Mesdames Burt Ostot, T. W. Phillips, Oscar Gullbert, D. W. McHenry and John Ray as hostesses. Individual tables with dainty service dollies of pink glassware of the same color, and tiny vases of wildflowers made the rooms attractive, and a delicious luncheon was served by the hostesses to 44 guests.

The home economics section of the club in sponsoring the meeting presented Miss Marian Alice Parker, a newcomer to the art colony of Laguna Beach. Miss Parker who is a collector of rare and beautiful handicraft, exhibited needlework and weaving made by the mountain women of Kentucky. These women, who are under the leadership of church organizations, are working in groups, and sending the labor of their hands to distant markets, in order to do their part in relieving the general distress felt in the Kentucky mountains. A number of beautiful hand made quilts were displayed and a quantity of woven goods, both in linen and wool. Miss Parker gave an interesting lecture of the work of the mountain women and the conditions under which they lived.

Guests of the club for the afternoon were Mesdames Quackenbush, of Dana Point, Putnam, of Santa Ana, T. A. Ray, of Alhambra, and Willis Deupree, Billups, of Santa Ana, and others.

It was voted to hold a club picnic on the evening of July 8. A steak bake will be the feature of the evening, with steaks fried by John Malcom. Dancing will follow. Husbands of members will be guests.

Hostesses for the July luncheon meeting will be Mesdames J. Roy Smith, William Tyler, David Ross, Norman Bottiger and H. S. Barnes. The meeting will take place the third Tuesday of the month. Hostesses for the monthly card party, to be held on the evening of June 25, will be Mesdames Paul Esslinger, Fred Stroschelm, W. H. Gruswald and William Bathgate.

BUENA PARK UNION WILL ASSIST GIRLS

BUENA PARK, June 17.—The Buena Park W. C. T. U. plans as a project during the summer months the raising of funds for the Frances E. Willard School for Girls in Los Angeles, where girls from 15 to 21 years of age are cared for.

Discussion of plans for this project marked the W. C. T. U. meeting in the Congregational church Tuesday afternoon. The president, Mrs. F. P. Stultz, was in charge of the meeting, which opened with the song "This is My Father's Work," with piano accompaniment by Mrs. E. A. Kinney and scripture reading and prayer by Mrs. H. H. Haggarty.

Mrs. Margaret Strain was appointed treasurer to fill the vacancy left by Mrs. Crumrine who is out of town for several months. Mrs. Kinney reported on her work as chairman of the scientific temperance instruction in the schools and Mrs. Haggarty on Sabbath observance.

Members present at the meeting included Carrie Adams, Lela Brewer, Esther Gregory, Georgia Connick, Ethel Watson, Gertrude DeGelder, Ellen Sweeney, Carrie Shepard, Gladys Earhart, Cella Elchen, Retta Reddeberger and Mary Bell.

200 ENROLLED IN H. B. SUMMER BIBLE SCHOOL

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 17.—The Vacation Bible school being conducted under the auspices of the Baptist, Christian and Methodist churches of the city now has an enrollment of over 200 students.

The attendance at the daily sessions is holding up well and the plan has been a notable success. The school sessions will continue this week and next week, closing at the end of next week.

The beginners, numbering over 30, are meeting at the Methodist church daily and classes are conducted from 9 to 11:30 a. m. every day except Saturday and Sunday. The beginners' department is under the direction of Mrs. Della Fox, assisted by Mrs. M. A. Murdy, Mrs. Fenton Chaplin, Costa Mesa; Mrs. Tracy, of Oceanview.

The primary classes are meeting at the Baptist church daily from 9 to 11:30 a. m. Mrs. James Ranney is director of the primary department and is being assisted by Mrs. Fred Knauss, Mrs. Harlan Reid and Mrs. Shirley Ralston.

The junior and intermediate classes are being held at the Christian church under the direction of Mrs. A. F. Hasse, wife of the pastor of the Costa Mesa community church. Assistants are Miss Bertha Pann, Mrs. Luther Payne, Mrs. William Adair, Mrs. Guy Stein, of Liberty Park; Mrs. J. V. McIntosh, Mrs. Frank Catching, the Rev. J. G. Hurst.

RUSSIA CONDITIONS TOLD BROTHERHOOD

GARDEN GROVE, June 17.—Harold E. Wahlberg, county farm advisor, gave an illustrated lecture on personal observations made in Russia, at a meeting of the men's brotherhood in the Baptist church Monday evening. In his lecture he stressed the agricultural and social conditions of that country.

H. D. Adams, the new president, presided at the business session. The brotherhood went on record as favoring meetings to be conducted here in September by John Brown. This was the last meeting of the brotherhood until September.

BEACH COMMUNITY Is Interested In Metropolitan Plan

SUNSET BEACH, June 17.—Sunset Beach community, working through the chamber of commerce and through influential citizens, will form a district to enter the Metropolitan water district, it is reported here. Sunset Beach is not an incorporated city but under the Metropolitan Water district plan, communities or areas may be organized where their water needs can best be solved by the unit or district plan.

The city now is supplied through one water system and the plan is to take about this same area into the district to be formed for entering the Metropolitan district, it is stated.

NEW OFFICERS SELECTED FOR CHURCH GROUP

CASTA MEHA, June 17.—Mrs. Donald J. Gibson was unanimously elected president of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary society of the Community church at the regular monthly meeting held Tuesday afternoon in the church chapel.

Other officers elected for the ensuing year are Mrs. E. Pickering, vice president; Mrs. Mary Bennett, secretary; Mrs. Vernon Coyner, re-elected treasurer. Appointive officers are Mrs. E. Chaplin, membership chairman; Mrs. E. Pickering, stewardship; and Mrs. William Moore, supply chairman. The new officers will not assume their duties until the October meeting.

Mrs. Mary Bennett, retiring president, stated that the apportionment for the home work had been completed and the time limit on the foreign work will be September and it is expected that will be finished satisfactorily.

Mrs. D. Gibson was in charge of the devotion and gave a short resume of the devotional topics for the coming year.

A contest in story writing relative to international relations, recently held by the national missionary magazine, produced a group of prize winning numbers. Mrs. R. L. Davis read "Kigo," a Japanese story, and Mrs. A. F. Hasse "Chariz," on Negroes.

SCHOOL BOARD SECURES EIGHT NEW TEACHERS

PLACENTIA, June 17.—Eight new teachers will be added to the staff of the Placentia union grammar school when school begins next fall, and 37 of those who taught this year will return, according to Glenn Riddlebarger, superintendent.

The new teachers are Ruth O. Lams, formerly of the La Habra schools, who will teach arithmetic and girls' physical education; Gladys Sheppard, who comes from the Brea schools and who will be assistant art teacher; Lucy Belle Morgan of Anaheim, assistant music teacher; Marie Cline of Placentia, a graduate this year of the University of California; Margaret Anne Dean of Fullerton, also a graduate of the University of California; Ruby Saylor of LaVerne, graduate of LaVerne college; Miriam Marshall of Covina, graduate of Occidental college, and L. L. Gilmore of Huntington Park, orchestra director.

Teachers who are returning are Glenn A. Riddlebarger, district superintendent; Dossie E. Clarke, principal; Marjorie Fox, Beattie Twombly, Orpha Strong, Allys Robinson, Carolyn Strong, Allys Robinson, Ruth Gregg, Ruby Schenck, Helen Wilson, Olive Smith, Eleanor Kent, Cora Willis, Thelma Burdette, Oma K. TWO YEARS AND A HALF!

The country was almost, we might say, overjoyed when it was announced that convicting evidence had been secured against "Scarface" Al Capone, of Chicago, of his defrauding the government and the conspiracy charges.

Our gratitude went out to the men who did this faithful work, and we had a feeling that after all, the federal government was a thing not to be fooled with. We want to express our appreciation here of the work that was done. But there is danger of having all this work go for naught for sometimes when one imagines he is about to taste of the ripe fruits of victory, he finds on his tongue simply the "ashes" of defeat. It was with a similar feeling, only raised to the "nth" power, that we learned in the closing part of the dispatches from Chicago, concerning Al Capone's "guilty" confession, that he was to receive probably about 2 1/2 years sentence in the penitentiary.

Does any one imagine for a moment that when a man has robbed the government of $200,000, and has entered into a conspiracy to defy her laws and comes forward and confesses to his crimes, that a sentence of about 8 per cent of what the law provides, will either tend to punish the victim, or prevent others from following in his footsteps? In this case, it will hardly prevent him from carrying on his work.

Two years and a half! It took the prosecutor six months longer than that to gather the evidence, under the fear of the presentation of which Capone plead guilty.

Two years and a half! So it is suggested that his sentence is likely to be. He went into voluntary confinement in a jail in Philadelphia for one year and came out refreshed, and better organized to carry on his dastardly, dirty work than ever before.

Two years and a half! For the murderous gangster leader of Chicago, defying the city and state, as well as the federal government, and for years "snapping his finger" at them in indifference, while we have seen a judge sentence a man for three years for stealing a sheep! We have seen him sentence one for two years for stealing a pocketbook. We have seen him sentence one for seven years for embezzling $5000. Al Capone, the meanest of dirty crooks, who is grabbing the earnings of honest men, apparently has made a "deal" through his attorney, of having a penalty adequate by law for the major crimes that he has committed, reduced to that which a man might get if he had stolen bread from a bakery for his starving children.

If the United States judge sentences Al Capone, from two and a half to three years as a total, for robbing the United States government of $200,000 and entering into a conspiracy with others to nullify the other laws and the Constitution of the country, by bootlegging and running breweries contrary to law, why, lesser criminals ought to be honored by election to public office and possibly to judgeships.

We would think that the detectives and attorneys who have been working on this case for three years, running the risk of their lives, would feel, if that should be the result of their endeavor, that they would be willing to hand the court-house over to Capone's gang as a headquarters.

They unquestionably have the evidence. Capone is a guilty man; he admits it. The law provides a penalty which is sufficient to protect society from the activities of this cheat and crook for several decades to come. The greatest blow to law enforcement, to the protection of society, the establishment of justice, and the confidence of the people in a square deal, would be to attach this penalty to the confessed criminal in this case.

To give a paltry sentence of this kind, puts practically a premium upon the character of traffic that this man has been engaged in. A fine of $50,000 or $100,000 to a man who has been getting it from his victims in the way this Capone and his aides have been doing, is a hideous joke. Let justice be done now, when it is possible to have it done!

THE MARION SPEECHES

The Register is in hearty agreement with the strictures that President Hoover made on those who betrayed ex-President Harding and their country.

We have been keenly disappointed, for a number of years that some things which were said, or referred to at the tomb of the ex-President at Marion, were not said by Mr. Coolidge or Mr. Hoover at times previously.

It was difficult for those who learned of the "betrayal" to uncover the crookedness, and the power of the administration was felt heavily against them during that period. The machinations of the "Ohio gang," under the leadership of Harry M. Daugherty, Attorney-General of the United States, were well known in Washington.

At that time, when Senator Wheeler of Montana, was endeavoring to get justice done for the country, and punishment meted out to the bribers and the bribe-takers, the Attorney-General of the United States sent his secret agents into Montana to do "skulduggery," to injure the man who was relentlessly on his track.

We should not forget at this hour, the men who uncovered this rascality and protected the country. We are glad that our President and ex-President, who were in the cabinet when these things transpired, speak now with no uncertain voice. The ones who aided in the uncovering that traffic in the rights of the people then, are probably now doing similar work, and sometime in the future a President of the United States will approve of what they are doing now.

President Harding's weakness was his strength, as we have spoken of it before. It is unfortunate when a man, looking for political preferment, receives aid, and thereby places himself under obligation to such men as surrounded Mr. Harding.

The two men, Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Hoover, who spoke at the dedication, performed a service for their Chief and friend. Mr. Harding's ascendancy and the valuable work that he did are represented by the beautiful monument there at Marion. It would be well, if the people, in looking upon it, realize there would have been greater power that Mr. Harding could have had; greater heights to which he might have arisen; greater achievements accomplished, as well as his life being extended, if he had been surrounded by patriots and real friends, who would have been willing to have effaced themselves for the President and the public good.

Laugh and the world laughs with you. Cry and you just simply ruin your makeup.

WELCOME WORDS

Robert Babson, the great statistician, declares that business has seen its worst, and is on the upgrade. These words are worth considering.

Mr. Babson predicted, with such unerring accuracy, the crash that came a year ago last fall, that it seemed almost uncanny. As a rule, he is not interested in the political phase of it. We imagine he tries not to be any of the time.

When he discusses that part of business, we think he is out of his sphere, certainly he doesn't know anything more than guess-work, but when he deals with the figures of production and distribution, unemployment, and prices, he is nothing short of a genius. We are glad to note that he predicts, and is willing to stake his reputation, that we have passed "low ebb" and are progressing toward the incoming tide.

He says that marked prosperity is definitely on the way. We are glad to have a man of his ability upon this particular point give us this sort of news.

Research Takes the Air

Christian Science Monitor

How far up in the air does the air go? This is an undetermined issue which is giving natural scientists quite a bit of knitting work for their dull moments. History holds no record of anyone who has been to the place where the air leaves off. Neither has there appeared any astronomer or mathematician who has been able to compute the distance between the earth's surface and the top of the air.

In an effort to gain further knowledge concerning the atmosphere, Prof. August Piccard recently explored the air to a height of about 50,000 feet. Meteorologists who, through the use of balloons and rockets, have been studying the upper air, have gathered more or less knowledge of its habits. They have divided the atmosphere into two parts, the inner of which they call the "troposphere" and the outer the "stratosphere." And it is obviously the latter that is giving them the most trouble.

Sounding balloons are said to have reached heights of from twenty-two to twenty-four miles, but hungry meteorologists have had their appetites only whetted by the meager information thus gleaned. They want to know a bit more concerning the ionized region which has been labeled the "Heaviside layer," and why the temperature in that layer falls apparently without rhyme or reason.

One really does not know what clothes to take along for a tour of the atmosphere. A half-dozen miles or so above the face of the earth the sky tourist may find it could enough to don his ear-laps and mittens, notwithstanding the fact that he is quite a bit nearer the sun than when he left his buckwheats and sirup to find out how far he would have to climb to get rid of the mosquitoes. And yet at a height of thirty-five or forty miles the weather reports promise him a spell of warm weather, with a decided change to "clear and cold" as he reaches an altitude of fifty to sixty miles. In the meantime the demand for cosmic rays remains strong and the sky tourist who can bring down a few good specimens may have his name inscribed on one of them as a permanent memorial to his accomplishment.

Magic For Wayward Boys

New York Times

Teachers, parents and social workers who have to deal with boys classed as incorrigible, must often wish for some sort of magic. Patience and understanding are the nearest approach to it, but a professional performer has discovered that his stage tricks are a happy means of catching the interest of wayward youths. For boys, the man who pulls rabbits out of top-hats and bowls of goldfish from his pockets is a delight they never tire of. The rush of youngsters to the stage when Thurston calls for assistance is proof of this.

One of the wizards attending the convention of the International Brotherhood of Magicians at Columbus has found that "fifteen minutes of magic and sleight-of-hand tricks" will do wonders in rousing youthful interest. The lads are eager to know just how he does it and many are keen for a career of stage magic. He has charge of 200 boys in Pennsylvania. He takes them on camping trips and encourages their interest in magic. Some show promise of becoming "magicians of unusual ability."

It might seem that teaching boys with bad records that the hand is quicker than the eye—that cards can be palmed and a pea can be flattened on a finger when it seems to be under a shell—smacks a bit of Fagin's instructing Oliver Twist how to "steal" and "swipe." But probably the instructor points out that the business of being a stage magician is more remunerative and interesting as well as honest than that of other light-fingered artists.

More Truth Than Poetry

VANISHED CREAM

The day that out behind the stable
I smoked a furtive cigarette—
Though long years distant—I am able Distinctly to remember yet.
A stern relentless parent caught me
While I was puffing—unaware—
And, with a willow switch besought me
To give up smoking, then and there.

Today the scientists assure us
That harmless pleasure we may glean
From gifts of Nature which allure us
Like coffee, tea and nicotine.
The latter, used in moderation
By men of learning, we are taught,
Inspires the great of every nation
To noble and creative thought.

I've smoked for many a passing season;
This does not lend my fancy wings
Nor stimulate my power of reason
But peace and happiness it brings.
And although sometimes my physician
May voice a pessimistic doubt
And say that I'm in bad condition
I never yet have cut it out.

But while I find its incense pleasant
And love to watch the smoke wreaths flow,
No joy it gives me in the present
Like those I felt so long ago.
Cigars bring still mild satisfaction,
Their wreaths of smoke delight the eye,
But they have lost their chief attraction;
No more I smoke them on the sly!

THE AGE OF IRRITABILITY
Politeness is said to be on the wane in the United States. Evidently in these times the country is not safe for urbanity.

OLD STUFF
Cellophane cannot be so very new. We seem to remember seeing ballet dancers dressed in it.

NO WONDER
Charlie Chaplin complains that he never could get a start in England. He forgets that the custard pie is an American institution.

Tomorrow Is a New Day

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Every day in the United States at least 60,000,000 people exercise their freedom of choice as buyers. Every day they spend at least $100,000,000. Every day they buy the commodities and services of their choice, and no others.

Do they choose to spend one-seventh of their income on motor cars and motor-car supplies? Very well, no power on earth can stop them.

Do they refuse to buy certain magazines and certain styles of shoes? Very well, they do exactly as they please.

They flocked to "Abie's Irish Rose" after all the theatrical managers decided that they would not. They bought "Main Street" eagerly until April; then—presto!—they stopped buying "Main Street."

Women wear furs all summer or refuse to wear them at all, as suits their fancy. They suddenly decide to bob their hair; and the helpless makers of hair-pins would junk their machinery were it not for the hope that women will just as suddenly decide that they cannot possibly get along without hair-pins.

The tire manufacturer borrows money, builds a factory, installs machinery, organizes a sales force, lets advertising contracts, hires laborers, buys rubber and fabrics—all on the chance that, when the tires are ready for use, somebody will pay enough for them to take care of all these advance payments.

But will somebody come forward at just the right time and do what is expected of him? Nobody in the world is wise enough to say.

All consumers are free today to choose as illogically, as unwisely, as capriciously, as extravagantly as they please. And tomorrow is a new day. What they will demand to-morrow, nobody knows.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

TOWARD A NEW SELF-DISCIPLINE

Some weeks ago I suggested that there are signs of a return from the far country of loose thinking and looser living that marked the immediate post-war period.

I see this in the present college generation. There are signs that youth is beginning to realize that the cult of self-expression that has been so much in vogue defeats itself unless the practitioners master the difficult art of self-discipline as well. At no time since the war have I shared the gloomy mood respecting youth that has been so prevalent among the elders.

I am not surprised to find an increasing acknowledgment of the claims of self-discipline. For it has always seemed to me that much of the looseness that marked youth immediately following the war was a superficial mood and manner.

Here are some things many of us forget:

The young men and young women of the last dozen years have been the spiritual children of a generation torn by many doubts and disillusionments respecting the standards and opinions of earlier times.

The more critical of their elders have helped them to realize these doubts and disillusionments. And the less critical of their elders have all-too-often done little more than cry over their doubts and castigated them for their disillusionments.

Many of the practices that maturity has criticized in youth have not been deeply imbedded in the real natures of the younger generation, but have been the products of a very human tendency to conform to the prevailing mood of the moment.

Much that has been hailed as reckless non-conformity has been in reality but an imitative conformity to a fashionable non-conformity.

Non-conformity actually became fashionable which meant that it was not, in essence, non-conformity but conformity.

The "loose period" through which the post-war youth passed has to its credit the blasting away of a lot of prudery and bogus piety that was at heart insincere.

On the rebound I am confident that the generation now headed toward maturity will be as a cleaner and clearer headed generation to take over the reins of affairs in the years ahead.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI
NEEDED PRIVACY

A good bit of the trouble we have with little children is caused by the audience. A little child will follow direction, go along in his accustomed way without friction until there is an audience to be impressed. Then the trouble begins.

"Now, now, Geraldine, don't do that. You know you never play with the soap when mother bathes you. Grandma doesn't like little girls who behave like that."

Grandma sits beaming at the naughty child like a benevolent sunbeam and Geraldine pokes the soap into her mother's eye and chuckles gleefully.

Alexander eats his meal in serenity until Aunt Ellen comes in to see him get his supper. Now he shows off. He jumps up and down. He playfully tips a spoonful of soup into his eye. He experiments further. The next spoonful goes into Aunt Ellen's face. She was not expecting that and as she has her best dress on she doesn't appreciate it.

"Mercy me, what's the matter with your child?"

"He never does such things, really. He usually eats like a person. I'm sorry he spoiled your dress, Ellen. Come now Alexander. Eat your supper or you'll have to be put to bed hungry."

Little children who are learning to do things need privacy. The audience affects them in one way or another, and they do things that make it harder for them to do the right thing next time. Their habit growth is too tender as yet to permit any lapses or interruption of any sort. Far better to keep them by themselves and allow visitors only during visiting hours.

Sometimes an audience makes a child timid. He fears to make a mistake. His fear makes him awkward and he spills something or breaks something. The accident brings scolding and shame and he weeps. Such an experience is not good for him. Only when a child is sure of himself is he to perform in the presence of other people. It is better that he volunteer an exhibition than that he be asked to give one. Privacy is essential in the training of little children.

When visitors come to witness a child's performance whether it be eating or dressing or saying his prayers, there are bound to be two opinions about the proceeding. That means a discussion. All discussion about a child's habits should be kept from his ears, kept from his presence even, for words are not necessary to convey thought to a child.

It is not necessary that many people visit a child. A few selected friends who understand what is going on and can keep their tongues still and their sympathies active, are all that are allowed. For the rest a little child needs privacy.

RUSSIAN OFFENSIVE

On June 17, 1917, the Russian Duma in secret session, voted in favor of "an immediate offensive in close co-operation with Russian allies."

The offensive began on July 1 and its initial success was encouraging. It seemed as though the miracle of the restoration of the Russian army had been achieved. "Here," as John Spargo said, "was an army whose dead and wounded already amounted to more than 3,000,000 men, an army which had suffered incredible hardships, again going into battle with songs."

"On the first of July more than 36,000 prisoners were taken by the Russians on the southwestern front. Then came the tragic harvest of Bolshevik propaganda. Regiment after regiment refused to obey orders. Officers were brutally murdered by their men. Along a front of more than 150 miles the Russians retreated without attempting to fight, while the enemy steadily advanced. This was made possible by the agitation of the Bolsheviks, especially by the mutiny they provoked among the troops in the garrison at Petrograd."

THIS IS TOO MUCH

BUM: Spare a copper for a poor man out of work?
BUSINESS MAN: Here's a half-dollar. Call at my office tomorrow and I'll find you work.

"No, sir, the half-dollar will be enough—I'm not greedy."—Buen Humor, Madrid.

WITH OR WITHOUT

It was during a grammar lesson. Said the teacher: "Always remember, boys, that the word 'with' is a very bad word to end a sentence with. I—ah—that is to say—ah—unless you have nothing else to end it with!"—Tit-Bits.

ONE GOOD JOKE

SCENE-SHIFTER: No—it's a bit of scenery fell on 'is head!—London Opinion.

NO, IT'S NEVER

"Doesn't it ever rain in this country?"
"Rain? Why, there's frogs in this town over five years old that hasn't learned to swim yet!"—Tit-Bits.
